WIFE DIVORCED BY DEATH.

£1,000 DAMAGES FOR HER HUSBAND.

LOVER SUED.

An unusual case, in which a husband was awarded £1,000 damages against another man owing to the man's misconduct with his wife, since dead, was heard by Lord Merrivale and a special jury in the Divorce Division.

The husband was Mr. James Edward Crabtree, a blanket manufacturer, of Dewsbury, living at Westell, Oxford-road, Dewsbury, and he claimed damages against Mr. Percy, William Marshall, a bookmaker, who had a bungalow called Talybont at Garnard, Isle of Wight.

The issue for the jury was whether the misconduct had been committed by Mrs. Nellie Crabtree, the late wife of Mr. Crabtree, and Mr.
Marshall, and, if so, what damages should be awarded.

Mr. Marshall denied the allegation.

Mr. Crabtree denied cruelty and misconduct alleged by his wife in a petition for divorce she instituted, immediately after she left him.

Lord Merrivale, summing up to the jury, said that ordinarily a claim for damages such as was made in that case was made incidentally in an action in which divorce was sought. The present case, so far as it was a suit for divorce, had come to an end, but it continued so far as it was an action for damages.

"Loss By Injury."
"It has been accurately said that damages in respect of misconduct are not assessed by way of punishment," he said, "but by way of ascertaining what is the loss, so far as can be measured, and what is the damage caused to the complaining party by the injury which he has suffered."

"It is suggested to be not only an ungentlemanly and an unmanly thing, but really an indecent thing that this husband should pursue his claim against Mr. Marshall, although the marriage in respect of which he brought his petition has been dissolved by his wife's death.
That is entirely a matter for you to consider."

"There are no doubt many cases in which death might wipe out any sense of injury as far as a dead person is concerned. An injury done by a dead person is a matter which no doubt should be forgotten."

"As far as an injury done by a living person is concerned that is entirely another matter, and a matter for you to consider."

Lord Merrivale added that the jury must not let indignation against Mr. Marshall aggravate their assessment of damages.
When the wife left her husband she made no claim on him, and her first communication was to file a petition against him for divorce, on grounds which he said were unfounded.

Lord Merrivale, commenting on the fact that Mr. Marshall had not given evidence, said: "It would have been to his credit if he had gone into the witness-box and said that there had been no misconduct between them. It would have tended to absolve her memory from guilt if he had gone into the witness-box to deny the charge."

The jury found that there had been misconduct between Mr. Marshall and Mrs. Crabtree.

9.—Reversion.

No. 777 Lce.-Corpl. F. E. G.
Munn, No. 2 Platoon, reverts to the ranks at his own request, as from April 18th, 1928.

10.—Leave.

Lieut. A. H. Penn, Infantry Co., is granted leave of absence from the Corps from April 15th, 1928, to May 31st, 1928.

11.—Resignations.

LUXURY TRAIN ON FIRE.

WOMEN LEAP FROM WINDOWS.

MILLIONAIRE ESCAPES IN PYJAMAS.

CAIRO, March 12th.

Passengers in the train de luxe travelling from Luxor to Cairo last night had a terrifying experience when, as the result of a hot axle-box catching fire in a coach used as a sleeper, the train sped on its way with the coach blazing.

Efforts to stop the train were unavailing for some time, because the communication cord had been damaged.

Finally the guard clambered over the roofs of the carriages, reached the engine, and warned the driver, who stopped the train.

Meanwhile, the fire had spread to another sleeping coach, which had to be detached. Both were soon reduced to cinders.

There were several narrow escapes, some of the passengers having to be rescued in their sleeping clothes through the windows of the burning coaches, abandoning all their hand baggage.

Among the travellers who arrived later in Cairo in their night clothes by a relief train was Mr. Eastman, the American camera millionaire.
No one was injured.

"Leave Everything."
An extraordinary sight greeted the people who were anxiously waiting the arrival of the Luxor train at Cairo station when the train drew in, four hours overdue.

From the luxurious coaches descended a motley crowd, some in gaily-coloured pyjama coats and crumpled trousers, with slippers on their feet, and others in obviously borrowed clothes.

Some American women tourists who were in the burning coaches said the flames were already enveloping the corridor when the alarm was given, and the windows were the only exit, leading to a steep embankment. The travellers bundled one another through the windows.

Dr. Kaiser, the medical adviser of Mr. Eastman, giving an account of the party's experiences when the fire was discovered, said: "I found Mr. Eastman sleeping peacefully. I opened the door and was astounded to see flames shooting along the corridor. I aroused Mr.
Eastman and told him we must get out without delay. The carriage was already filling with smoke and the draught made by the train in motion was fanning the flames."

"Mr. Eastman rushed for his clothes, but I shouted 'Leave everything! There is not a second to lose!'"

RADIO MONOPOLY.

FRENCH GOVERNMENT TO RETAIN IT.

PARIS.

The French Government intends to retain the monopoly of wireless stations, and no authority for the setting up of new private sending stations either by newspapers or by learned or scientific societies is to be granted.

The Chamber of Deputies have voted a Bill which allows stations provisionally until an organic law is introduced dealing with the State's rights in the matter of wireless transmission.

M. Poincaré declared that the Government did not propose to interfere with the 150 wireless amateurs nor with the 180 scientists, technicians, and wireless constructors who have been granted permission to work wireless telephone transmitting stations, but the wireless telephone and telegraph was a State monopoly, and of the numerous private transmitting stations already in existence only two were duly authorised by the Government.

The Government, added M. Poincaré, wants to know exactly how certain private stations are used for the broadcasting of political propaganda, notably certain Communist and Royalist speeches, and it will not allow its right to be usurped by surprise.

MODERN AFGHANISTAN.

KING AMANULLAH'S RE-FORMS.

By his presence here, says the Manchester Guardian, the Afghan monarch shows that we shall soon have to have new ideas of Afghanistan. In his attempt to modernise Afghanistan King Amanullah has engaged the services of a large number of Europeans. Germans, French, and Italians are employed as engineers, architects, and school teachers, and Turkish officers are training the Afghan army. A party of Afghan boys is now in Birmingham being trained in British police methods. The Queen's brother, Mr. Abdul Wahab Khan, who is also the son of the Afghan Foreign Minister, is now at Exeter College, Oxford. Other Afghan youths have been sent to France and Germany, and there are German and French educational missions in Kabul.

The King has said that to him an Afghan boy is worth ten grown men, because boys can be developed and trained, whereas grown men in many cases are fit only for "the scapheap." During the past few years great progress has been made in the use of motor transport in Afghanistan. A metalled road runs from the frontier at Torkham, at the foot of the Khyber Pass, to Jellalabad, and thence to Kabul.

There are motor roads from Chaman to Kandahar, and thence via Ghazni to Kabul. The north road from Kabul is good enough for motor traffic as far as Bamiyan, 150 miles north-west of the capital.

The roads in places are still rough, and motor transport consists mostly of American cars and British and French lorries. There is reason to expect that some use may be made in the near future of British six-wheeled motor vehicles for use on such roads as the proposed road from Kandahar to Herat, where the going cannot be expected to be good.

Directory & Chronicle

For the Far East.

1928 Edition.

THE DIRECTORY AND CHRONICLE, COMPRISING NEARLY 2,000 PAGES, GIVES ALL THE IMPORTANT FOREIGN FIRMS, WITH THEIR STAFFS, ESTABLISHED BETWEEN VLADIVOSTOCK IN THE NORTH AND JAVA AND BORNEO IN THE SOUTH.

It has been published annually for the past 65 years and is recognised by all European merchants as an INVALUABLE and INDISPENSABLE WORK OF REFERENCE.

The Foreign-Residents comprise a list of nearly 20,000 names and addresses arranged, with the initials as well as the Surnames in strictly alphabetical order so that any name can be found instantly.

Not only is the Directory as full and complete in each case as it can be made, but each Colony, Port or Settlement is prefaced by a Description, carefully revised each year. The information in these Descriptions, consisting of a hundred interesting articles, packed with facts concisely set out, and containing statistics of the Trade of each Country and Port, would alone suffice to fill a large volume.

Large Volume, with Maps and Treaties .. $12
Abridged Edition .. $8

HONG KONG'S WEATHER.

PRINCIPAL FEATURES LAST YEAR.

REPORT FROM ROYAL OBSERVATORY.

The principal features of the weather in Hong Kong in 1927 were:—

(a) Rainfall very considerably above normal in May and considerably above normal in July and August. 6.01 inches fell from May 8th to 8th and 15.73 inches from May 17th to 24th.

(b) Temperature considerably below normal in March and April and considerably above in November and December.

(c) A typhoon which passed a few miles to the South of Hong Kong in the morning of July 25th, causing a moderate gale. Another typhoon, which passed a few miles to the South of Gap Rock in the morning of August 20th, causing a violent gale at Hong Kong.

Barometric Pressure was persistently below normal from January to August, and again in November and December. In September it was considerably above normal and in October moderately above.

The temperature of the air was considerably below normal in March and April and considerably above in November and December. The mean temperature for the year was 71.9° as against 71.6° in 1926 and 71.8° for the past 44 years. The highest temperature was 93.1° on August 10th, as against 92.5° in 1926 and 91.0° for the past 44 years. The lowest temperature was 45.9° on February 7th, as against 43.2° in 1926 and 35.0° for the past 44 years.

The total rainfall for the year was 107.86 ins., as against 100.78 ins. in 1926 and 88.08 ins. for the past 44 years. The greatest fall in one civil day was 7.25 ins. on May 23rd as against 21.02 ins. in 1926; the highest on record. The greatest fall in one hour was 2.10 ins. between 12½ and 13½ on May 1st, as against 3.36 ins. in 1926; also the highest on record.

COMPLAINT OF THE GARDENERS.

The report of the Botanical and Forestry Department for the year 1927 says:

The weather throughout the whole year was unfavourable for gardening owing to the excessive rainfall which delayed planting and spoiled to a great extent the show of flowers on annuals and herbaceous plants; on the other hand forestry operations were much benefited by wet conditions which prevailed up to about the third quarter of the year. The fourth quarter of the year was mild and dry and insect pests were in consequence very numerous.

Considerable damage was done to flowering and other trees in many parts of the Colony by typhoons. The force of the exceptionally long gale which approached the Colony on August 20th was responsible for the major portion of the damage; in the Botanical Gardens the damage was fortunately comparatively slight.

The following is the comparative statement of revenue and expenditure of the Botanical and Forestry Department for the years 1918-1927.

Year.	Expenditure.	Revenue.
1918	$51,967	$ 8,282
1919	51,467	8,207
1920	55,976	9,547

SOCIAL UNREST IN JAPAN.

FASCISM MORE LIKELY THAN BOLSHEVISM.

TROUBLES OF THE PEASANTRY.

Kobe, March 29th.

Reuter's agent in Japan, Captain M. D. Kennedy, has contributed to the Nineteenth Century and After an article reviewing the growth of the labour movement in Japan, headed "Labour and Social Unrest in Japan." His general conclusion is that Fascism is more likely to be the outcome of unrest than a Socialist revolution, and in this he is probably right, though the Fascist organisations like the Roninkai and the Kokusanka already existing have not made themselves at all popular, and if anything in the nature of a "loyal and bloodless revolution" were to the place it would probably be a purely military affair, and would not be, as in Italy, because of labour troubles verging towards anarchy so much as because of the gross corruption of the political gangs who divide the power between them. Though some knowledge of and an inclination to imitate European revolutionary movement began about the beginning of the present century, and the Yuni-kai was formed in 1912, it was only after the rice riots of 1918 that trade unionism really began.

For the next few years everything was seemingly quiet though in reality there was considerable activity going on below the surface, and a class of malcontents with a grudge against the existing order of society was coming into being.

Later on the writer refers to the accusation against the Eta that they were prominent in the riots—an accusation that was probably true only to the extent that they are poor people and stand in less awe of the police than most of their fellow-countrymen. The strikes were as spontaneous as such a rising could be, and it was discontented fishwives—another outspoken class—who began the row. There had been a number of strikes before the riots, and it was not until the war was over that wages really began to assume their present exalted level. Captain Kennedy says that during the boom "the workers could afford to be unruly and dictatorial," but that "in the slump and general depression that followed the boom was on the other foot." This as a general proposition is true, but there were a good many exceptions. For instance, big dockyard strikes, which Captain Kennedy does not mention, both took place when the men no longer had the whip hand.

There was first the very well-conducted strike in 1919, in which a compromise was effected. In 1921, when the slump had very definitely arrived, the Kobe dockers, both Kawanishi and Mitsubishi, went on a much more serious strike, demanding a syndicalist management of the workshops.

Captain Kennedy seems to us to give a great deal too much credit to the influence of the Liberal thinkers, who, he says, realising the importance of guiding the Labour movement "into moderate channels lest otherwise it might drift in too radical a direction, gave it their patronage and support." He does not mention the amalgamation of the Socialists into one union in 1921 and its breaking up by the police—with the aid, in part, of ruffians who assaulted the Socialists whenever they caught them in sufficient small numbers to make it safe.

In view of our "grave affair," of to-day the following passage in the article is interesting:—

In passing, however, it may be well to note that personal inquiries both from Government officials and leaders of the Labour movement would seem to disprove that there is any Soviet money behind this unrest, though one of the leading men in the Labour movement, whose name, for obvious reasons, cannot be mentioned here, stated quite frankly that active propaganda was being carried out constantly among the labouring classes by a certain unofficial member of the Soviet Embassy. This individual, as he put it, was the real representative of the Moscow Government in Japan, while the ambassador was merely a figurehead, or "smoke-screen."

Apparently since Reuter's agent in Japan interviewed Government officials on this subject, official opinion has changed, since a Reuter message from Japan of March 23rd states that "the police appear to suspect the left wing of the Labour Farmer Party have received substantial financial support from Moscow."

Captain Kennedy concludes with a brief survey of the condition of the peasantry, and tells of the desperate straits of the tenant-farmers who cannot pay the extortionate rents demanded. It is obviously, as he says, a dangerous situation, and it would appear that an absurdly high assessment of the land is the cause of it, though that assessment does not prevent great landlords from being millionaires. This is one of the most serious problems of the day in Japan.

U.S. BID FOR FILM OF POLAR EPIC.

SCOTT RECORD MAY BE LOST TO BRITAIN.

Is the magnificent film, "The Epic of the South Pole," the record of Captain Scott's tragic journey, to find its final home in America? This question is raised by the fact that Mr. Herbert Ponting, who made the film, has received a "transatlantic financial offer for it that is too euphoric to decline unless a British bid is forthcoming. Various persons who are alarmed at the prospect of this pictorial epic being appropriated by America have approached Mr. Ponting, and he is unwilling to let his great work become the property of America.

He is, in fact, prepared to make a sacrifice, and would rather accept less than half the American offer, provided the ownership of the film can be retained in Great Britain.

Strenuous efforts are being made to retain the proprietary rights in the film, and a special gathering was held in the cinema of the Imperial Institute, when Mr. Ponting again screened the pictures, and Rear-Admiral Evans (Evans of the Broke), who as Lieutenant Evans accompanied Scott's expedition, voiced the feelings of those moving in the matter.

Admiral Evans described the film as illustrating "one of the most heroic chapters, not only in the history of Polar exploration, but he might almost say 'in the history of our Empire'."

The film, as shown recently in London, awakened all the old feelings of romance, adventure, heroism, and patriotism that were stirred when it was first shown, while the heroism of Scott and his party, and the great sacrifice of Captain Oates, "a very gallant gentleman," had all their old poignancy.

HARDY'S WIDOW. "PENALISED."

THE VIEWS OF OTHER WOMEN.

A clause in Thomas Hardy's will, which penalises his widow, if she marries again by halving her annuity of £8,000 is being widely discussed and the opinion on the whole condemns Hardy's action on the grounds that he remarried and had, therefore, no right to punish his wife if she did the same.

The following views have been expressed by representative women: Miss Stella Keyes-Smith: "I knew Hardy and I know his wife, but none of us know his motive for inserting this clause in his will. No doubt the point of inconsistency can be made against him on the grounds of his second marriage, but I should hate to think of anything that might detract from his memory."

Miss Sybil Thomdike: "There can be no question of penalty. If Mrs. Hardy marries again under the terms of the will, the residue devolves upon the other beneficiaries—his brother and his sister. It seems to me that his will is a best distribution he could have made."

Miss Stella Benson: "Leaving Hardy out of it and speaking generally, I think the practice of such a stipulation in a will is unjustifiable."

Miss Lillian Baylis: "I have never married so I don't know what I should do about it. It seems to me that if a wife has been of real help to a man in his work and in his home she deserves everything he leaves."

Lady Wyndham: "It seems to me see a personal matter, and it is so difficult for anybody outside to judge. I should never insert such a clause myself."

CO-RESPONDENT AT 18.

AND A WIFE'S £1,500 A YEAR.

LORD MERRIVALE ON MATRIMONIAL VALUE.

Lord Merrivale, President of the Divorce Court, made some strong comments in a case in which a 23-years-old wife with £1,500 a year left her husband for a co-respondent aged 18.

The case was that in which Mr. Derek Scott Lines Sefton-Toms, of Queen's-gate, S.W., of an occupation, petitioned for the dissolution of his marriage with his wife, Helen Sefton-Toms (née Betts), on the ground of her adultery with Mr. Philip Avery (appearing by his mother as guardian), against whom damages were claimed.

The adultery was not denied, and Mr. Barnard, for the husband, intimated that, subject to the approval of the jury, damages had been agreed at £100.

Miss Mabel Winnie James, reception clerk at the Bell Hotel, Gloucester, and Miss Violet Dando, a chambermaid, were witnesses for the husband.

Lord Merrivale, addressing the jury on the question of damages, said so that they might form some opinion as to whether the damages which had been suggested were reasonable, he would read a letter which this young woman of 22 or 23 wrote to her husband after she had gone off with this boy of 18. The letter opened:—

Darling Derek.—Will you not fix up anything about selling the Spinney yet as I am not at all sure about my plans! I am in a terrible muddle—no money, no car, but very happy. I want to see auntie and told her about everything, and we discovered that Philip (co-respondent) and I are cousins by marriage.

Unlucky Betts.

Then, said Lord Merrivale, she referred to the dog she had with her and for which she professed affection. She said she should sell the horse, but she was going to keep her "Rover." "As I cannot afford another car just yet."

Then she went on to suggest that her husband should come to see her in Norfolk, where she was going to sort out her things.

Lord Merrivale continued:—I can well conceive that you will think the value, from a matrimonial point of view, of the wife who behaves in this way, whether she has £1,500 a year (as stated) or 1,500 pence, was represented at a very small sum. But the guardians of this lad, recognising that there is a case for damages, have apparently declared themselves ready to provide £100 in respect of damages, and if you concur in that and think that £100 does not overestimate the loss suffered by the petitioner, you will assess damages at that sum.

Husband's Lost Work. The jury asked Lord Merrivale whether the husband, who gave up his work at the suggestion of his wife to live in the country, could get any help from her.

The President said he could not. The jury found adultery, and assessed damages at the agreed amount of £100, and Lord Merrivale pronounced a decree nisi. He made an order for costs against the co-respondent and the respondent, limited in the latter case to her separate estate. Lord Merrivale observed to the jury: "I can quite understand your dissatisfaction with the sum here, but the fact of a young 18 years of age is, of course, a great obstacle to an effective verdict, unless he has considerable expectations, about which I know nothing. Damages cannot be assessed against a woman, the law does not provide for any such remedy as that."

GENERAL'S GIFT TO FRAN-CISCAN MISSIONARY.

Rome.
A Franciscan missionary, Padre Vassori, has presented the Missionary Institute at Bergamo with a valuable Chinese bell, dating from the sixth century B.C., which was given to him by a Chinese general whose life he saved after the death of his troops at Hankow.

The bell is inscribed with strange characters and emblems, which have been interpreted by the orientalist, Professor Vacca. They state that the bell was cast in the fifty-sixth year of the reign of the King of Chu, by the feudatory, Teang, for perpetual use in the temple of the city of Syang. Other characters indicate the note of the bell, "Shang," the second of the five musical notes of the Chinese scale, and the south side of the temple, "mi," where the bell was hung.

Professor Vacca thinks it must have formed part of a chime of five bells of different notes, which were used at the ceremonies in honour of ancestors.

Padre Vassori says that his friend gave it to him, saying: "Do not look at the roughness of the work. We know it is very old and very precious, and that it goes back to many centuries before Christ."

LETTERS ON LEAVE.

NO. II.

CONTAINING AMONG OTHER VERACIOUS MATTERS A TRUE ACCOUNT OF THE ORIGIN OF PENANG.

Once upon a time there was an Imp who received promotion and became an Arch-Imp, and as such had the control of a ward in the Infernal regions. He carried on for about a week and then he went along to Beelzebub and said, "Look here, what about this new district of mine? Of course, I know the scenery is lovely, and my-or-guests are perfectly charming. But the climate! Hell's Hell, of course, but damn it all this is a bit too hot!" And the Devil said, "Well, you know, you can't exactly expect Winter Sports, but anyway I'll have a look at it." So he came round one day and after about five minutes he said, "You're perfectly right! This is a bit too thick even for Gehenna! You had better go on the waiting list for a job and I'll send this section up to earth." And so he did, and the name of it is now Pulo Penang or Georgetown.

Seriously, there is something particularly overpowering about the heat of Penang. It has Singapore beaten to a frazzle for sheer steamy penetration. There was, on the day I was there, a magnificent sea breeze blowing very freshly from the north. The tide was in and the waves were splashing over the front sea wall. But apart from this one spot the heat wrapped one in an invisible mantle of misery.

It is an awful pity because it really is a most charming place. The bungalows are delightful—even prettier than in Singapore—and are very comfortable to live in. The place has much the same garden city look as is noticeable in most of the bigger towns in the F.M.S.—(certainly this applies also to Kuala Lumpur). And the amenities of residence have recently been improved enormously by the completion of a sort of Peak Tramway which leads to a hill station about 1,800 feet up. Whether or no it will ever develop into a residential district like the Peak in Hong Kong remains to be seen. The only serious difficulty will be the waste of time in getting to and from one's office. But I am told that plans are in hand for a system of roads up on the top, and at the station about half way up, where there are a good few bungalows in building. The climate conditions at the top I gather—(I did not have time to go up)—very much resemble those on our Peak. It will be interesting to see if they send a man up to look into the questions which arise in the Peak district. He would learn a good few tips—both what to copy and what to avoid.

SAMPAN BOY'S BAD MONEY.
GETS TWELVE STROKES.

A young sampan boy who attempted to tender a counterfeit 20-cent coin appeared before Mr. R. E. Lindsell at the Central Magistracy yesterday morning.

The young boy bought a piece of sugar cane for which he handed the hawker a 20-cent piece. The hawker, at once declared the coin was a fake and during the argument which ensued a watchman came up.

He decided to search the boy and in his pockets he found two 20-cent and five 10-cent pieces all of which were bad. In one pocket he also found two 10-cent pieces which were genuine. He then arrested the boy.

At the Magistracy yesterday the boy told the Court that he did not know that the 20-cent pieces were bad. He knew that the 10-cent pieces were bad but intended making buttons out of them.

The Magistrate thought it curious that the boy should have tendered the bad 20-cent piece when he had two genuine coins and ordered the lad to receive 12 strokes with a rattan. The coins are to be destroyed.

A CORRECTION.

It was incorrectly stated in yesterday's Daily Press that two privates of the Queen's Regiment had recently been convicted of window breaking. The men in question belonged to another military unit.

Shops! The subject is a sore one as thanks to a confounded festival our berth was not ready and we had to lie off in the Harbour from 10.30 a.m. until 1 p.m. Result—all shops shut and no friends to be located in their offices. The shopping question did not perhaps matter so much as the Penang shops are not very good. Singapore beats them and the local patriots of Hong Kong may be glad to learn that the Hong Kong shops are vastly above the Singapore ones. Really, some one ought to tell John Little that a fan or two at each end of the very large first floor is about as much use as a snowflake in Penang! Another large firm had no lift! And they haven't even the excuse of six months cold weather!

However, the stay there was not very long and we are away for Colombo. I haven't mentioned our gallant vessel before. She is, however, the most comfortable of the P. & O.'s running to the Far East and even when one is travelling with two small children and no nurse one is comfortable, if worried. Of course, one has one's worries—one of which is the bugler-fellow who lets off loud and raucous shrieks as near as possible to nervous children, or as close as maybe to the time when they are just going to sleep at night. But what will you, my masters! The parents aren't the only people on board and the others have a right to be warned of their meals, etc.

There is, however, one type of nuisance on board that I do not suffer so patiently, and that is the energetic idiot who calls meetings and suggests Sports Committees. They take entire control. Parents have little time but they do get a chance to dance for a few minutes after dinner. But if I don't come to pay thirty shillings for two or three dances and the privilege of having my children chivied off the face of the deck by unskillful wielders of the deck quito, or brilliant terrors of the bull-board, Don't misunderstand me. Deck games played, as games are excellent, but the frenzied endless series of competitions that not a tenth of the passengers really enjoy simply get my goat. I'm all for the "commune bonum" of course. But there's no doubt whatever that the driving force consists of about 10 per cent. of the passengers who get their way through the general apathy of the mass. Probably, however, a special punishment awaits them in the Hereafter. Apparently I am getting a liver. I must take some exercise. Farewell.

ENGLISH-CHINESE PAPER FOR HONG KONG.GRADUATE OF YALE AS ENGLISH EDITOR.

A petition is being filed to-day in the office of the Secretary for Chinese Affairs for the registration of the China Tribune as a limited company under the Hong Kong Companies Ordinance of 1911-1915.

The petitioners, among whom are prominent merchants and newspaper men of this city, propose to publish a newspaper partly in English, but chiefly in Chinese. It will be called China Tribune; its Chinese name being "Tai Tung."

It will be independent, non-partisan and devoted to the promotion of the best interests of the Chinese people.

Mr. Yan Phou Lee, a graduate of Yale of the class of 1887, will be its English editor. He has written extensively for American newspapers and magazines, and can point to fifteen years' experience in journalism. Prior to his coming here last August, he gave up his position as managing editor of the American Banker on which he had been employed for nearly nine years.

Mr. Wong Yew Kung, who has held various editorial positions on local Chinese papers during the last thirty years and is highly esteemed by the Chinese community, will be Chinese editor.

The managing director of the company is Mr. Hing Sing Cheng, a well educated young man with business interests in Hong Kong and San Francisco.

Mr. Yeung Shun Hang, the assistant manager of the Moonraker Motorboat Co., Ltd., is treasurer. The company has opened a temporary office at 144, Des Voeux Road Central, over the National Commercial and Savings Bank where information can be obtained.

FIBRE PACKING CASES.

SUCCESSFUL DEMONSTRATION.

LAND SAFELY FROM THIRD FLOOR WINDOW.MR. J. DA ROCHA'S ENTER-PRISE.

An unusual demonstration was made yesterday before representatives of the various shipping lines to prove the superiority of patent fibre packing cases over the usual wooden box.

Mr. J. da Rocha is the local agent for this new form of packing case which has, however, been in use in the United States for the past three years. The demonstration was staged in his office with the object of convincing local shippers of the reliability of fibre cases, since they had been until to-day officially banned here.

Two packages of fire crackers one enclosed in a wooden and the other in a fibre case were thrown from a third storey window, and were examined when they landed by representatives of the shipping firms and of the press. It was found that the wooden box was completely smashed and the packages of fire crackers which it contained badly torn. The fibre case, on the other hand, had sustained little or no damage and its contents were uninjured. It was also demonstrated by Mr. da Rocha that these fibre cases are both waterproof and fire-proof.

It appears that during the strike and boycott Mr. da Rocha went to America to arrange for a supply of packing cases, and there he made the acquaintance of these fibre containers which are produced by the Fibre Board Paper Products Co. in San Francisco. He ordered a big stock, but learnt subsequently that their use had been banned by the Hong Kong Shipping Board.

Mr. da Rocha was, however, determined not to be beaten, and he packed a shipment of fire crackers in fibre containers disguised by matting covers, and under this camouflage they were shipped to San Francisco by the s.s. Takapka Maru on December 27th and the s.s. Taiyo Maru on January 9th. The goods were received by Mr. da Rocha in San Francisco on February 11th in good condition and he invited the Shipping Board in that City to examine them immediately. Those gentlemen agreed that the goods (fire crackers) were not only in good condition but were less damaged than they would have been had they been sent in the ordinary wooden cases.

It was pointed out by Mr. da Rocha that fibre cases have still further advantages over wood. Their cost is a little less; they are less bulky which means a saving on freight over a big shipment; the U.S. customs duty on fire crackers is 8 cents gold per lb, which means a very considerable saving as there was a difference of 4 lbs. weight between the two small boxes used in yesterday's demonstration; and since fibre cases can be folded flat they are returnable and can be used over and over again.

Each fibre case is submitted to a 200 lbs. per square inch resistance test before it leaves the factory.

Among other interested spectators the following were present at the demonstration: Messrs. E. N. Ryan of the C.P.R., T. B. Wilson of Dollar and Admiral Line, Uyemura of the N.Y.K., Hirose of the O.S.K., G. B. Lanyon and F. A. Mackintosh of the Blue Funnel Line, V. M. Grayburn of the Hong Kong and Shanghai Bank, and Mr. Menacini, a retired commissioner of the Chinese Customs.

As a result of the demonstration the shipping community have withdrawn all objection to the use of these fibre packing cases.

AFTER A LULL OF SOME MONTHS THE WAR BETWEEN NORTH AND SOUTH HAS BEEN RESUMED AND TO-DAY'S ISSUE OF THE HONG KONG WEEKLY PRESS RELATES THE OPENING STAGES OF CHIANG KAI SHEK'S PUSH FOR PEKING.

The Upshot of the struggle is still uncertain but the Nationalists have obtained big initial successes. The Shantung front is severely menaced by Feng Yu Hsiang's advance towards Yenchow, while the temporary success of a diversion by Sun Chuan Fang in the rear of the Nationalist main army has been abruptly brought to an end.

Another Piracy by the Bias Bay gang has to be recorded, the victim being the China Merchants' s.s. "Hsin Wah." There was no loss of life but five Chinese passengers were kidnapped and plunder to the value of $25,000 was taken.

Canton, with many signs of relief, has welcomed back from the North Marshal Li Tsai Hsin. During his absence the city has been a prey to rumours of "Red" plottings and elaborate precautions were taken to hold the disorderly elements in check.

Our welcome guests at Hong Kong, the officers and men of the First Squadron of the Imperial Japanese Navy, left on Monday. Full reports are given of the successful entertainments arranged for their entertainment and the hospitality which they in turn extended to the Colony.

MARSHAL LI TSAI HSIN INTER- VIEWED.

REASONS FOR NORTHERN VISIT.

ON FRIENDLIEST TERMS WITH CHIANG KAI SHEK.

"CAPTURE OF PEKING NOT FAR DISTANT?"

[FROM OUR CHINESE CORRESPONDENT.]

CANTON, April 19th.—The Chinese Press to-day prints an interview given by Marshal Li Tsai Hsin to Canton pressmen regarding the Marshal's recent mission to Nanking. The interview throws a considerable light on the present political situation in Central China, and on the policy of the Kwangtung Administration. The following is a free translation from the Chinese Press:—

"Marshal Li, as your recent trip to Nanking was avowedly for the purpose of conferring with Marshal Chiang Kai Shek on plans for the consummation of the National Revolution, may we know something about your mission to Nanking and the policies of both the Nationalist Government at Nanking and Kwangtung Administration?"

"My recent trip to Nanking," replied the Marshal, "was to report to the Nationalist Government on both the civil and military situation of the Province and to formulate in conference with the Nationalist Government a policy for the reconstruction of Kwangtung. Marshal Chiang as well as the members of the Nationalist Government, realizing the realities of the situation, most heartily agreed with the recent external as well as internal policy of the Provincial Administration."

The interviewer asked: "The Northern Military Expedition has already been launched and reports of its signal successes are pouring in. May we know something about its latest developments?"

"Wuhan has decided to despatch troops to participate in the Northern Expedition," said Marshal Li. "When I was still in Shanghai, I received a telegram from the front to the effect that the 1st Army of the Nationalists had captured Han Chuan. As regards the military developments of the last few days, I do not know, as I was travelling by sea. But I think the capture of Peking by our forces is not far distant."

NO FINANCIAL AID NOW FROM KWANGTUNG.

"Is it true, Marshal, that Kwangtung contributes financial aid to the Northern Military Expedition. If so, how much does the Province send each month?"

"Kwangtung should contribute its quota to the Northern Expedition," the Marshal replied. "But since the recent Communist upheaval and the consequent slump of the banknotes, the Province has been in financial straits. Because of this the Province at present contributes no money to the Expedition at all. Later on, it is hoped, the Provincial Administration will be held to contribute its share of money to the Central Government at Nanking."

REASON FOR BELATED RETURN.

"Why was it that you, Marshal, had to postpone so many times your return trip to Canton?"

"The reason for my belated return was that Marshal Chiang Kai Shek was preparing to leave for the front, and there was no one to take charge of the military affairs in the rear. In compliance with the urgent request of Marshal Chiang I had, therefore, to stay a few days longer. In fact I should have stayed at Nanking until the whole of Shanghai had been recovered by the Nationalist forces. But the authorities in Canton repeatedly called me, urging my return at the earliest possible moment. The high officials at Nanking also recognised the necessity of my returning to Canton. Hence I came back here, purely on account of this. Rumours to the contrary are a figment of the imagination."

"But Marshal," the interviewer continued, "as you have already assumed the post as Chief of the Staff of the Nationalist Forces, who will take over that important post now that you have returned to Canton?"

"General Ho Yin Yam has consented to act as the Chief of the Staff during my absence from the Nationalist capital. Marshal Chiang Kai Shek and I have been on the friendliest terms. When I was in Nanking, we jointly drew up plans for the completion of the National Revolution. Due to combined efforts, every province under Nationalist rule has been united for the Northern Military Campaign. My recent mission to Nanking was therefore pre-eminently satisfactory."

FILMING CANTON.

ALL THE OFFICIALS TO POSE.

[FROM OUR CHINESE CORRESPONDENT.]

CANTON, April 19th.—Mr. William C. Ferreira, motion picture producer of the International Photoplay Producing Company, Limited, Honolulu, Hawaii, arrived in Canton yesterday morning for the purpose of taking moving pictures of all the interesting places in Canton as well as of all the high officials of the Canton Government. Upon arrival, the Hawaiian visitor was escorted to the Sun Yat Sen University and "shot" Mr. Tai Chi Tau, Chancellor of the University. Pictures of many of the professors and instructors as well as of the buildings of the University were also taken. After this Mr. Ferreira, who acted as guide, took the visitor to places of historic interest in the city, including Yellow Flower Hill, Central Park, Government House, the Aviation College at Tai Sha Tau, and some of the pagodas.

In an interview with the representative of the Daily Press, Mr. Ferreira stated that he was sent to the Far East, especially to Nationalist China, by the International Photoplay Producing Co., Ltd., a Chinese enterprise in Honolulu, Hawaii. His purpose, he said, was to get, through the camera, a glimpse of the Canton Government and its work. The pictures taken here will be sent back to Honolulu and the United States.

Continuing, the visitor said that he had first gone to Nanking, to take a series of pictures of Marshal Chiang Kai Shek. But just before he got to Nanking, the Marshal left for the front. He further stated that he was much impressed with the constructive and progressive work of the Canton regime. He hopes to-day to get pictures of the Rev. T. W. Pearce, O.B.E., L.L.D., Li Tsai Hsin, Dr. Chu Chao Hsin, Mr. Wu Teh Shing, and other official personages of the Canton Government.

Besides being a moving picture producer, Mr. Ferreira is also an aviator of note. He flew in one of the Government aeroplanes while visiting the Aviation College at Tai Sha Tau this morning, Thursday.

PROPOSED EXTENSION OF MORRISON HALL.

FOUNDATION STONE TO BE LAID ON APRIL 24TH.

AFTER SEVENTEEN YEARS.

The extension of Morrison Hall at the Hong Kong University which will complete the quadrangle as intended in the original scheme proposed in 1911 is to be carried out in the near future. The foundation stone, however, is to be laid on Tuesday next, the 24th instant by the Rev. T. W. Pearce, O.B.E., L.L.D. This is to commemorate the erection and extension of the east wing of the University. The extension of the east wing is to accommodate the students of the London Mission and will include sixteen cubicles for students, a large dining hall and lounge, additional bathroom accommodation, and alterations to the ground floor of the existing west wing to be occupied by the Warden of the University for the London Mission Society; also verandahs will be constructed on the north side. The present design has been prepared by Mr. E. F. R. Sample of Messrs. Denison, Ram and Gibbs, the local firm of architects and engineers. The original scheme, however, was designed by Mr. E. A. Ram, F.R.I.B.A., who is a retired member of the same firm.

PLANS FOR KWANGTUNG.

"Marshal," concluded the interviewer, "as you are now back in Kwangtung, what plans have you for restoring the present depreciated notes of the Central Bank of China to their face value?"

"At present the military, civil, and financial affairs of the Province have all been unified under one system. The Communists and outlaws have been practically cleaned up. The tranquillization of the Province has been entrusted to a committee of four persons organized for the purpose, each having charge of a portion of the Province. The committee members are responsible for public order in their respective territory. As regards the financial aspect, though the banknotes are still not up to their face value, yet they are improving day by day. During the past few months the income of the Administration has exceeded its expenses. As people are now placing more and more confidence in the Government, it is only a matter of time when the banknotes will be up to their face value."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL MEETING.

CHINESE TEMPLES ORDINANCE POSTPONED.

The meeting of the Legislative Council yesterday afternoon occupied less than ten minutes and this time was chiefly occupied in answering the questions put to the Government by the Hon. Sir Henry Pollock, K.C., and the Hon. Mr. J. Owen Hughes.

The questions asked by Sir Henry Pollock and the answers given by the Colonial Secretary were as follows:—

Representation Of Kowloon.
Q.—Will the Government consider the advisability of making representations to the Right Honourable the Secretary of State for the Colonies with reference to the constitution of this Council being amended in order to permit of Kowloon being represented on this Council?

A.—H.E. the Governor proposes to discuss the question of the composition of the Legislative Council with the Secretary of State during his approaching visit to England.

Public Pier At Nathan Road.
Q.—If the construction of a public pier at the end of Nathan Road is practicable, will the Government favourably consider the erection of a public pier at the end of Jordan Road?

A.—The provision of a public pier at the end of Nathan Road is impracticable.

The construction of a vehicle and passenger ferry pier at the end of Jordan Road is under consideration and until the questions concerning the proposed vehicular ferry have been decided, no further answer can be given.

Traffic At Star Ferry Wharf.

Q.—Will the Government state what steps it is prepared to take in order to meet the desires of the Kowloon Residents' Association in regard to the improvement of traffic regulation in the vicinity of the Star Ferry Wharf at Kowloon.

A.—A comprehensive scheme has been prepared for the lay out of the area in the vicinity of the Star Ferry Wharf at Kowloon with a view to improved traffic regulation. It has been prepared to meet as far as possible the desires of the Kowloon Residents' Association whose proposals have received due consideration. The scheme will be made public in a sessional paper in due course.

Bathing Facilities.

Q.—With a view to the increase of public bathing facilities in the Colony, will the Government

(i) Put up additional bathing cubicles, and pavilion accommodation for the use of the public, at Repulse Bay?
(ii) Put up bathing cubicles, and a pavilion, for the use of the public, at the Bay near Stanley where private bathing matsheds have already been erected?

A.—At present fifteen cubicles (10'0" x 6'0") are being erected at Repulse Bay with fresh water showers, water stand pipes, etc.; ten are for men and five for women. No provision is being made for a pavilion.

The beach at Stanley has been fully allocated; two or three additional sheds might be erected on the higher ground above the beach, but this site is not considered suitable.

No public bathing cubicles or pavilion are being erected and no funds are provided for this purpose. Hon. Sir Henry Pollock, arising out of this question, I should like to put this supplementary question. Are the proposed public bathing facilities at Repulse Bay referred to considered by the Government as adequate for the use of the public?

H.E. the Governor: I think that question will have to stand over until our next meeting.

Q.—Will the Government (in accordance with the recommendations of the Bathing Beaches Committee contained in Sessional Paper No. 12 of 1926), expend a sum, then estimated at $7,116, with an annual wages bill for boatmen and coolies of $900 for the season, in providing bathing cubicles, a shelter or pavilion, sanitary conveniences, boats, buoys, rafts, fresh water, etc., at Cheung Sha Bay, which is on the motor road a few miles nearer to Kowloon than Castle Peak Bay?

Funds are not available at present for the suggested works at Cheung Sha Bay.

Kowloon Tong.

Q.—Will the Government take steps to enable the residents of Kowloon Tong to have a sufficient water supply for the flush closet system, which system has been installed in their houses in accordance with the original building scheme?

A.—On the 25th September, 1924, the Hon. Mr. Montague Ede raised in Executive Council the question of the water supply of the Kowloon Tong settlement. He put forward proposals for the construction of a reservoir to supply the settlement with water for a water flushing system and for the trees, gardens, lawns, etc., which were essential to the scheme. The then Director of Public Works pointed out that these proposals were uneconomical and said that the settlement would be supplied in due course from the Shing Mun Waterworks. Mr. Ede, however, pressed his point, and after discussion the Governor-in-Council agreed that he should be allowed to construct a reservoir for the Kowloon Tong scheme on the clear understanding that the Government took no responsibility in the matter and assumed no liabilities in respect of it. In these circumstances it is clear that, if the existing water supply to the Kowloon Tong scheme is defective, the blame for such defect rests on the Kowloon Tong Estate Company, which should take steps to remedy it by negotiating with the Government for connection with the Shing Mun Waterworks.

Playgrounds For Kowloon.

Q.—With the Government utilize one of the strips of Government land abutting on Salisbury Road as a playground for Kowloon children? Will the Government also inquire into the possibility of various unutilized pieces of land abutting on Nathan Road being temporarily used for the purposes of children's playgrounds?

A.—Pending its use by the Government for other purposes, a small area can be reserved as a children's playground at the junction of Salisbury and Middle Roads. There is, however, in the opinion of the Government, no area at Tsimshatsui which is really suitable for permanent reservation as a children's playground; and none of the undeveloped area adjoining Nathan Road appears to be suitable for conversion to children's playgrounds.

Memorial To Sir Paul Chater.

Q.—Will the Government consider the advisability of a simple granite Memorial being erected on the Praya Wall, between Queen's Pier and the Star Ferry Wharf, in order to commemorate the fact that the late Sir Paul Chater was the originator of two important Reclamations on the South side of the Harbour, namely, one from the Royal Naval Yard Westward to West Point, and the other from the Royal Naval Yard Eastward to East Point?

A.—The question of a memorial to Sir P. Chater is in the hands of a representative Committee whose plans originally included a Statue for which Government was prepared to grant a site. It is understood that the idea has been abandoned in favour of the endowment of scholarships at the University; but if the Committee desire a memorial of the nature suggested in the question, Government is still prepared to consider the grant of a suitable site.

Prisons And Prisoners.

The question put by the Hon. Mr. J. Owen Hughes and the answers given were as follows:—

Q.—What information can the Government lay before the Council as to the partially prepared site for the new prison situated in Kowloon Bay?

What are the daily average of prisoners in 1927 in:—

(a) Victoria Gaol.

(b) Lai Chi Kok Gaol.

Does the Government consider these prisons to be overcrowded? If yes, when is it proposed to proceed with increased accommodation?

A.—The work on the new gaol at Ngau Shi Wan was suspended after a meeting on the site of members of both Executive and Legislative Councils with His Excellency. The site adjoins the Airport site at Kowloon Bay and will be required in connection with the development of that project and will not be used for the construction of a prison.

The daily average of prisoners in Victoria Gaol in 1927 was 774 and in Lai Chi Kok Gaol, 415.

Victoria Gaol is overcrowded. Lai Chi Kok Gaol is not overcrowded. On the other hand Lai Chi Kok can hardly be called a prison. There is no cellular accommodation and little opportunity for employing the prisoners on labour.

Increased accommodation cannot be provided at Victoria Gaol. Government is at present investigating possible sites on which to build a new prison.

Routine Business.

The only other business transacted at the meeting was of a routine nature. The Ordinance to suppress and prevent abuses in the management of Chinese temples and in the administration of the funds of Chinese temples was to have come up for its second reading, but on the motion of the Hon. Sir Shou-sun Chow, seconded by the Hon. Dr. B. H. Kowloon, this was postponed. Sir Shou-sun Chow said he had just received a petition from twenty-two keepers of the To Yuen—which meant tourist monasteries—in which they stated that the passing of the Ordinance would effect them. He moved the postponement of the second reading in order that the matter might be given more consideration.

Council adjourned until next Thursday, April 25th at 2.30 p.m. Those present at the meeting were:—H.E. the Governor, H.E. the General Officer Commanding the Troops, the Colonial Secretary, (Continued at foot of next column.)

COUNTERFEIT COINS?

YAU MATI WORKSHOP RAIDED.

MOULDS AND CHEMICALS.

A Chinese who had been arrested as a result of a police raid at No. 358 Portland Street, Yau mati, appeared before Mr. W. Schofield at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday on the charge of being in possession of moulds for making counterfeit coins.

Inspector Fallon prosecuted and said that with four Chinese detectives he raided the premises in question. He told a Chinese detective, Lai Sui, to enter the building by the front whilst he entered from the rear. Just as he had entered and had begun to search the premises, he received a call from the Chinese detective, Lai Sui, and going through the building found the defendant and the detective. They searched the place and discovered a basket of charcoal, moulds for making counterfeit coins, files, and 5 bottles containing liquid and solids. The solids were in the form of powder. These articles were scattered over the verandah. He asked the defendant whom the articles belonged to, and where they came from, and the defendant answered that he got them from a friend in Canton who had recently returned to that city.

Among the articles found during the search were eight rent receipts, which were not in the name of either the defendant or of the woman who lived in the house, and who is supposed to be the wife of the defendant. The defendant had also admitted that he was the principal person of the household.

As the contents of the five bottles have still to be examined by Mr. E. R. Dovey, the Government analyst, the case was adjourned till evidence could be given by the latter.

THE WAR AND SURGERY.

HOW TREATMENT FOR KNEE INJURY DEVELOPED.

UNIVERSITY LECTURE BY R.A.M.C. SURGEON.

Major R. H. Lucas, O.B.E., M.C., R.A.M.C., read a most interesting lecture yesterday on "Some Surgical Derangements of the Knee Joint" at a meeting of the Hong Kong University Medical Society. Professor K. H. Digby was in the chair.

Major Lucas served with the R.A.M.C. during the Great War and saw the extraordinary progress which was made during that period in the treatment of wounds and in surgery in general. He was for some time in the front line where he was called upon to administer first aid and subsequently he was transferred to a base hospital. Addressing the meeting the lecturer pointed out that injuries which demanded immediate first aid were of very general occurrence, and the importance or correct treatment on the scene of the accident could not be over emphasised. In the early days of the war nearly every case of injury to the knee joint suppurated and about 60 per cent. required amputation.

The year 1915 saw the beginning of a new treatment and a year later there was a very large decrease in the number of wounds of this order which ended either fatally or had to be treated by amputation.

A full description of the treatment for various wounds to the knee joint was given and the reason for each step clearly explained. At the end of his lecture Major Lucas answered several questions.

Dr. Phoon asked for information about the displacement of the cartilage from which athletes so often suffer, and the lecturer explained the relative values of manipulative and surgical treatment in these cases.

Besides a large number of medical students of the University, sixteen qualified doctors were present. Professor K. H. Digby expressed the thanks of those present to Major Lucas for a most interesting and helpful lecture.

the Colonial Treasurer, the Attorney-General, the Captain Superintendent of Police, the Director of Public Works, the Secretary for Chinese Affairs, the Hon. Sir Henry E. Pollock, K.C., the Hon. Sir Shou-sun Chow, Hon. Dr. B. H. Kowloon, Hon. Mr. A. C. Hynes, Hon. Mr. J. Owen Hughes and Mr. T. W. Ainsworth (Deputy Clerk of Councils).

THE FIGHT FOR PEKING.

THE importance of FENG YU HSIAO's capture of the railway head at Taining may be considerable. If the Shantung troops were unable to stop him before they are not likely to do so now, though the actual possession of the short branch line ending at the captured town will not, in itself, mean much as his opponents will hardly have been obliging enough to leave any rolling stock behind. The Northerners have fallen back on Yenchow and as yet that most important point has not yet fallen. It is, of course, on the Pukow-Tientsin Railway, which is CHANG TSUNG CHANG's main line of communication. Far to the South he has been striving, with indifferent success, to hold up CHIANG KAI SHEK's advance, and it is not surprising, with this menace to his flank and rear, that he has ordered a general retreat while the line is still available. At present it looks as if he will find it no easy task to extricate his main forces and attempt any further defence of Tientsin his provincial capital.

But while the Tapan of Shantung is hard pressed the army of SUN CHUAN FANG, which was expected to make an important diversion by menacing Huichowfu on the Pukow-Tientsin line from the west, has been almost annihilated according to the latest information. This is a severe blow to the Northerners for SUN is a good general and much was expected from his small force. Further North, another movement from the west by Shansi troops, along the Taiyewfu Railway sees a third arena of struggle. Marshal CHANG TSO LIN is, however, moving his own troops southward into Chihli, and it is unlikely that the small and isolated Shansi army can do more than create a diversion and contain a certain number of troops. CHIANG KAI SHEK's slogan promised, "Peking in three months," and the expedition's opening has not been inauspicious. A big territorial gain is assured to the Nationalists even if the Northerners are able to fall back on another line North of Tsinan.

But with the menace to Huichowfu averted and the Shantung rabble under their mediocre general once more routed the Southern task will only have been begun if Marshal CHANG TSO LIN is prepared to fight for Peking. Possibly he is not. He has been of late singularly careful of his own Fengtien troops. Apart from one dash for Hankow they have been kept as a reserve should the Shantung army and SUN CHUAN FANG finally collapse. If he allows Peking to fall without risking his own army the Mukden Dictator will possibly be quite happy to arbitrate in the almost inevitable bargaining between FENG and CHIANG KAI SHEK.

The early fire and ardour of the Revolution has long ago expired. Canton is indifferent, famine stricken Shantung can have no welcome for either deliverers or defenders while Manchuria only desires peace. The Peking Expedition is one of China's normal civil wars among groups of generals who align themselves first with one ally and then with another. The troops are perhaps trained to fight harder than is customary, but on the other hand the arms embargo declared is having some small effect. Ammunition is probably short and CHANG TSO LIN's Mukden arsenal may prove a deciding factor.

One case of Enteric Fever (British) and one Chinese case of Diphtheria were reported from Victoria on Wednesday.

At the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday a Chinese hawk was fined $800 for possession of ten fawns of prepared opium, found wrapped up in a jacket. A second man, represented by Mr. C. A. S. Russ, was stated to have received the parcel from the first defendant, but he was discharged on the latter admitting the offence.

Before Mr. R. E. Lindell at the Central Magistracy yesterday, Mr. G. R. Sayer, Superintendent of Imports and Exports, made an application for the confiscation of 1750 ounces of heroin and 238 ounces of morphine which was found on the s.s. Laomedon on April 17th. The application was granted.

Saying that it was cruel to defraud an old man of 81 years, Major C. Willson at the Central Magistracy sentenced a Chinese to three months' hard labour for the theft of 2000 catties of seaweed which had been entrusted to his care. The weed was worth $600 and was given to the defendant by the old man for sale. Defendant sold the weed and kept the money.

"YOU SHALL SEE THE DIFFERENCE NOW WE ARE BACK AGAIN."

YESTERDAY'S INAUGURAL MEETING.

"To my mind our greatest task is the creation and perpetuation of international goodwill. This is one of the most urgent needs of the world to-day, and who are qualified to do this important job? Why, we returned students, of course. We are ambassadors to the East as well as to the West. You shall see the difference now that we are back," said Mr. K. L. Chau, president of the Euro-American Returned Students' Society, at the inaugural meeting held yesterday at the roof garden of the Hong Kong Hotel.

There was a happy gathering present at the first reunion of Chinese students from abroad. Among them were many Chinese ladies, who had also been either to Europe or America for their education. Many English and American guests were present as guests of the Society and among them was Mr. A. E. Wood, Director of Education.

PRESIDENT'S WELCOME.

Addressing the gathering, Mr. Chau said: May I on behalf of the Union extend to our guests the warmest of welcome to our midst. I hope they will enjoy themselves thoroughly. I thank them for their gracious presence and support.

On an occasion like this, our inaugural meeting, it is fitting to give expression to what is in the mind of the Committee and members of the Union—to express their hopes and fears.

First of all I would emphasize very strongly that this Union is no President's Union, or Secretary's Union or Committee's Union. It is every member's Union. Unless we realise this we may as well close up sharp.

United We Stand, Divided.

It has been urged against us returned students that individually some of us stand but collectively—as a body—we are miserable failures. We have done nothing. Our opinion, as a body, has no weight as it should have; our influence is not felt as it ought to be felt; our voice is like one crying in the wilderness. Why is it? Our answer is we have no union, no unity. A piece of coal left burning by itself will give forth little light and warmth but when a bucketful is burning, it will produce a fire that cheers. We are not alone. We are a branch of that great national organization of returned students and therefore let us take courage and pull together.

International Goodwill.

To my mind our greatest task is the creation and perpetuation of international goodwill with one of the most urgent needs of the world to-day. And who are qualified to do this important job? Why, we returned students. We are ambassadors to the East as well as to the West. When we were abroad we interpreted the East to the West in a much better way than the Old China hands and such people who write fat books on China but who do not know our language or customs. Now that we are home again, we should perform a similar duty to our people by interpreting the West to the East. We are the people that ought to bridge that yawning gulf between the East and the West.

Those Returned Students.

Most of us have perhaps heard those taunting words "Those Returned Students." They are uttered by some with contempt, by others with indulgence, by others again with envy and distrust, as much as to say we are the cause of all ills in this land. In turn we are despised, we are petted; we are praised, and we are ridiculed and riled against. Whether we deserve all this approbation or obloquy is not for me to say. I am here not pleading for ourselves. We need no apology. But there is one thing we should never forget. We are the privileged few; and there are the teeming millions who are the unprivileged many. Some where have I read that where I forget of an old story which told of a town whose inhabitants had eyes but could not see. They heard of the power of a doctor who could give them sight but whose dwelling was well-nigh inaccessible. Realizing that when there was no vision the people would perish, the city elders chose a few dauntless spirits to undertake the arduous journey in order to get cured. I need not recount to you the perils and trials these young men went through. Suffice it to say they got back their sight. Overwhelmed with joy they

FUNERAL.

THE LATE MR. J. BLYTH.

BURIED AT HAPPY VALLEY YESTERDAY.

The funeral of Mr. J. Blyth, whose death at the Kowloon Hospital has already been announced in these columns, took place at the Protestant Cemetery, Happy Valley, yesterday afternoon.

Friends of the deceased carried the coffin from the Cemetery gate to the Chapel, where, after a short service conducted by the Rev. S. L. Webb, Senior Chaplain to the Forces, the burial took place in the Old Residents' section of the Cemetery.

Chief mourners were the deceased's four sons and three daughters, and among those present at the graveside were Messrs. R. Baker (representing the Kowloon-Canton Railway), A. W. Grimmit and C. E. Frith (representing R. M. Old Comrades' Association), G. A. Walker, J. Smith, F. Winyard, A. McCallum, R. Shannon, W. Cuff, H. Griffin, representatives of the Police and Prison staffs from Lai-chikok Gaol, and members of the Kowloon-Canton Railway Chinese staff.

Among the wreaths sent were those from his loving wife, Rose (son and daughters), William, Annie and Fanny; Sarah and Frank; Baby; Sister Alice and family; Alice and Jimmy; Mother, Jack, Harry, Baby, Sarah, Fanny, Alice, Lizzy and Bobby; Drawing Office Staff, Kowloon-Canton Railway; E. W. W. Staff; Manager and Staff, Kowloon-Canton Railway; Royal Marines Old Comrades' Association.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Hoare, Bevan, Roylance, Bander, Lambert, Winyard, Becker, J. Smith, J. F. Robinson, R. Baker, Beattie, C. F. Aris, W. E. Holland.

Messrs. R. H. Charles, I. B. Treavor, A. McCallum, G. B. Groom, W. G. Fitz-Gibbon, H. W. Hammond, G. A. Walker, W. S. Cuff, Inspectors Moss and Brown, Sergeant Mair, Old Friends from Central Police Station, and Ah Cheng.

ULLMAN'S DAMAGED WINDOW.

K.O.S.B. PRIVATE HAS NOTHING TO SAY.

Private C. Hood of "B" Company, the K.O.S.B., appeared in Court yesterday before Mr. R. E. Lindell for damaging the show window of Messrs. J. Ullman & Co., jewellers.

In reply to the charge the defendant said that he had nothing to say.

The police produced the pieces of granite which the defendant had thrown against the show window, and several fragments of the glass which was half-an-inch thick.

At the Magistracy could not award more than $50 damages he suggested that the complainants should place the matter before the Military Headquarters. The damage, as estimated by the police, amounted to $365, and as the glass was not insured the defendant would have to make good to the owners. His Lordship remanded the defendant until 10 a.m. on Thursday next, and fixed bail at $50 with a personal bond of another $50.

WEATHER REPORT.

Yesterday's weather report, forecast and remarks, issued by the Royal Observatory at 5.15 p.m., stated:—

The anti-cyclone continues to weaken and is central between Japan and the Bonins. The depression probably remains over Indo-China.

Local Forecast:—East winds, moderate, cloudy, rain.

returned and as soon as they arrived at the city gates, they addressed the crowd that had gathered to honour them. They made a remarkable speech, the shortest speech on record—a one sentence speech which I would like us to adopt as our motto: "You shall see the difference now that we are back again."

Men Of Vision Wanted.

One thing we need above all others in China to-day is men of vision, men who could see with eyes and not through eye-glasses. We want men with a two fold vision—a vision of China not as an opportunity for self but of self as a resource for service to the country; a vision that sees also not so much the world in China, as a China for the world.

That we may live to see our distracted country united and possess a free and prosperous people is our prayer. That these great consequences can only be brought about by our energy and devotion is my conviction. We must not trifle. We must prepare for the coming hour. Let us gird up our loins and provoke one another with these challenging words: "You shall see the difference now that we are back again."

CHINESE WOMAN SUCCEEDS AFTER THREE ATTEMPTS.

The body of a Chinese woman was found hanging from the roof of her house at Sham Shui Po. The body was taken to the Sham Shui Po Police Station and later to the Kowloon Mortuary. The people living in the same house as the deceased woman told the police that the woman had made two unsuccessful attempts to commit suicide. They also told the police that the woman had worried about her husband who had been abroad for the past 13 years.

THE BITER BIT.

POLICE SEARCH AND ITS RESULT.

SHANTUNG MAN FINED.

Two Chinese appeared before Major C. Willson at the Central Magistracy yesterday charged with refusing to submit to a search by a Weihsui constable and using abusive language in the Vieux Road on April 16th. Defendants took out a cross-summons against the constable for assault and Mr. F. X. d'Almeida e Castro appeared on their behalf.

Evidence in support of the alleged assault was given by the two defendants. The first stated that after searching him the constable threw on the ground a parcel of clothing which he was carrying. When he stooped to pick the clothing up, the constable struck him. Bearing out this evidence, the second defendant said that he pointed out to the constable the impropriety of his action whereupon he received a kick.

Asked by Inspector Spens why no mention of the assault was made in the charge room, the second defendant said that he returned to the charge room to make his complaint after he had been bailed out. Mr. d'Almeida on behalf of his clients said that the first man was a respectable merchant and the other a broker. Such class of men were not in the habit of using abusive language.

His Worship held that the constable had exceeded his duty and found the assault charge proved. The summons against the defendant was dismissed and the constable was fined $10.

CRUSHING DEFEAT OF GENERAL SUN CHUAN FANG.

CHRISTIAN GENERAL DESTROYS ARMY OF 20,000 MEN.

HEAVY LOSSES ON BOTH SIDES.

SOUTHERNERS' HAUL OF PRISONERS AT TINGHSIEN.

For some days now the exact position of General Sun Chuan Fang has been something of a mystery. Completely cut off from any Northern aid, and with a small and ill-equipped army, he nevertheless announced his intention of attacking Hsuehchow. Reuter cables from Shanghai and Peking say that Sun left his flank exposed while marching towards Lunghai, and Marshal Feng Yu Hsiang, seizing his opportunity, wiped out the whole army of 20,000 men.

In Shantung both Marshal Chiang Kai Shek and Marshal Feng Yu Hsiang are continuing their triumphal progress, though they, as well as the Northerners, are suffering very heavy casualties. The forces of Chiang Kai Shek have taken Tingshsien and with it 12,000 prisoners and large quantities of munitions. Yenchow is expected to fall at any moment, and at times the retreat of the Northerners approximates very closely to a flight.

Marshal Chang Tso Lin is hurrying two more brigades of Manchurian troops into Shantung to try and stem the tide of the Nationalist advance.

The Fengtienese continue to attack the Shansi troops on the Tientsin-Taiyuan Railway, but have been unable to gain any success.

CHRISTIAN GENERAL'S BIG SUCCESS.

SUN'S ARMY WIPED OUT.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

SHANGHAI, April 19th.
General Sun Chuan Fang had been carrying out an offensive, with the objective of cutting the Lung-hai Railway at Kweichow and thence turning Marshal Chiang Kai Shek's left flank.

A message from Peking states that Feng Yu Hsiang's advance completely frustrated Sun Chuan Fang's operation and resulted in the destruction of Sun Chuan Fang's army of 20,000 men.

Feng Yu Hsiang has also occupied Taining, and this debacle has forced Marshal Chang Tso Lin to retreat to Yenchowfu. He will probably be compelled to endeavour to concentrate his forces at Tai-an-fu.

PEKING, April 19th.
Foreign messages show that while General Sun Chuan Fang was pressing towards Lunghai, he had not left sufficient forces to guard his flank. Marshal Feng Yu Hsiang seized the opportunity and cut Sun Chuan Fang's communications.

One of General Sun's armies, under General Li Pao Chang, has been annihilated. The whereabouts of the remainder of Sun's forces is unknown, but some are believed to be at Yui.

Feng Yu Hsiang is also advancing along the north bank of the Yellow River. The Fengtienese have evacuated Changtcho and Tamingfu.

HEAVY LOSSES.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

SHANGHAI, April 19th.
As an example of the fierce struggle going on in Shantung, reliable foreign sources state that Chiang Kai Shek lost 20,000 men, of whom 2,500 were killed, including a general and three colonels, in the 26 hours of fighting which ended in the capture of Lancheng.

NO CHANGE IN SHANSI.

(Wah Tsz Yat Pao.)

SHANGHAI, April 19th.
A Taiyuan report to hand states that the condition in Northern Shansi is generally quiet, no severe fighting having occurred in the last few days. On the line of the Tientsin-Taiyuan Railway the Fengtienese are still carrying on a frontal attack on the Shansi troops but no success has been gained.

MANCHURIAN RE-INFORCEMENTS.

(Wah Tsz Yat Pao.)

SHANGHAI, April 19th.
Marshal Chang Tso Lin has ordered two more mixed brigades of Manchurian troops to move for the south to re-inforce the front in Shantung.

JAPANESE TROOPS FOR SHANTUNG.

FORCE MOVES TO TSIINAN.
TO PROTECT LIVES AND PROPERTY.

Tokyo, April 19th.
In view of the increasing seriousness of the situation in Shantung, the Cabinet has decided to despatch three companies from Tientsin to Tsinan and a mixed brigade of 5,000 from Kumamoto. They are also sending a telegraph corps and a railway detachment to Tientsin for the purpose of protecting Japanese lives and property.

Owing to the preparations entailed, the troops from Japan will not be leaving till April 23rd though the troops from Tientsin are expected to reach Tsinan on the 21st.

Strict Neutrality.

Tokyo, April 19th.

The Government is issuing a formal statement to-morrow, explaining the reasons for the despatch of troops to Shantung. The statement is practically the same as last June's, emphasising purely the protection of Japanese lives and property. Strict neutrality will be observed.

Cost Of The Expedition.

(Wah Tsz Yat Pao.)

SHANGHAI, April 19th.
The Japanese Government have decided to despatch the 6th Division to Shantung on April 21st, and estimate an expense of $700,000 for Japanese troops in China.

JAPANESE GOVERNMENT DEFEAT?

ANOTHER ELECTION POSSIBLE.

Tokyo, April 19th.
In connection with the Home Ministers action at the General Election, the Independent members of the Diet have decided to introduce a vote of non-confidence in the Home Minister at the session of the Diet to be convened to-morrow. The Minseito have agreed to support the vote, and therefore, unless there is some unexpected development, the Government, which is determined to stand by the Home Minister, with almost certainly be defeated.

In this event it is generally believed that Tanaka will re-dissolve the Diet and call another General Election.

Leaders of the Minseito have protested to the Premier concerning the incident at Wakayama, when a Minseito member of the Prefectural Assembly was stabbed to death. The leaders strongly censure the Government's failure to protect members of the opposition from such outrages.

SHANGHAI DEFENCE FORCE.

PROTECTING BRITISH LIVES.

LONDON, April 19th.
In the House of Commons, replying to a question by Commander Keenworthy, Mr. G. Locker-Lampson said that the Shanghai Defence Force occupied certain posts in the residential district in the western portion of the International Settlement.

They were there for the purpose of defending the Settlement and protecting British life and property.

The only other places where His Majesty's Forces were stationed outside a Concession area were Nanking and Peking, where the Legation Guard was stationed under the terms of the Protocol of 1901.

Troops, he said, will be withdrawn from foreign territory as there ceased to be any risk of danger to British lives and property. Commander Keenworthy asked if there was any threat to Shanghai at present, and Mr. Locker-Lampson replied that if there were not, the troops would not be there.

EAGERNESS FOR BRITISH BONDS.

[REUTER'S AMERICAN SERVICE.]

New York, April 19th.
The Guaranty Trust Company which offered $3,000,000 worth of the United Kingdom and Northern Ireland Bonds, coincidentally with the opening of trading therein on the Stock Exchange, reports that the issue was many times oversubscribed.

POSITION OF RUBBER INDUSTRY.

STATE INTERFERENCE USELESS.
MUST STAND ALONE.

SINGAPORE, April 19th.
Speaking at Kuala Lumpur, Mr. Ormsby Gore said that the reason the Government decided to abandon the Rubber restriction lay in the unsatisfactory nature of the facts and figures connected with the industry.

Money and science had been lavishly expended in an attempt to defeat the policy of restriction by cheapening reclaimed rubber and the use of less real rubber.

It was inevitable when the Government tied up commerce that difficulties would arise; industry's only hope was to become more efficient.

He advised growers to give practical support to the Rubber Research Institute, and emphasised the fact that the Government had taken no decision against British interests. State action was useless; industry must stand alone.

END OF RESTRICTIONS APPROVED.

INSUFFICIENT NOTICE.

STABILISED PRICE EXPECTED.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, April 19th.
Sir Eric Geddes, presiding at a meeting of Dunlops, said that in view of the termination of the restriction scheme on November 1st, the company had put the estates on a fuller tapping programme.

The approved of the Government's action in ending restriction, but thought that the Government was wrong in ending it without fuller regard to the interests involved.

The bare seven months' notice allowed was really little if any better than none. Adequate time should have been given to manufacturers to liquidate commitments. He nevertheless welcomed the promised death of restriction and hoped that it would never be resuscitated. He anticipated a reasonable measure of stabilisation of rubber prices after the temporary dislocation had passed.

DUNLOP DISPUTE SETTLED.

SATISFACTORY TO ALL PARTIES.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, April 19th.
It was announced in the Chancery Division to-day that the cross-actions between Sir Arthur Ducros, on the one hand, and the Dunlop Rubber Company on the other, the proceedings in which had been in progress for two years, have been settled.

All parties have agreed that all charges made in connection with the litigation be unreservedly withdrawn and the litigation settled on terms satisfactory to all parties.

The agreements by which Sir Arthur Ducros and Mr. Alfred Ducros were bound to the Dunlop Company have been cancelled on terms agreed upon, and they will resign their honorary positions as President and Vice-President respectively of the Company.

RUBBER CONVERSATIONS.

NO BREAKDOWN IN NEGOTIATIONS.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, April 19th.
The conversations between the British and Dutch rubber producers are proceeding amicably. The Dutch producers departed on Monday, but there is no question of a breakdown in the negotiations.

There are no set conferences, but the leading producers are discussing the situation and the conversations may be expected to continue for some time.

RUBBER SITUATION.

LABOUR DISAPPROVAL.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, April 19th.
The Executive Council of the Parliamentary Labour Party has decided to ask the Government to fix the earliest day possible for the discussion in the Commons of the Government's mishandling of the rubber situation.

MORE EARTHQUAKE SHOCKS.

PANIC IN SOFIA.

MANY FIRES BREAK OUT.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

SOFIA, April 19th.
A fresh earthquake far more violent than that experienced on Saturday, occurred at 9.30 p.m. last night.

The tremors resulted in a widespread panic, the terrified inhabitants rushing out into the street. At the moment no details of damage or of casualties are available.

Much Destruction.

SOFIA, April 19th.
Philippopolis was the city which suffered most in the earthquake. Electricity was cut off and the darkness was only relieved by fire breaking out in several quarters.

The military club, several large tobacco depots and many houses were destroyed, but the number of victims is not yet known.

Most of the population of Sofia, where the shocks were less severe, spent the night in terror in the open air.

BELOGRADE, April 19th.

There has been an earthquake 50 miles south-east of Belgrade, as violent as the earthquake on April 14th and followed by several lesser shocks. No serious damage was done.

CONFERENCE WITH IBN SAUD.

BRITISH REPRESENTATIVE SETS OUT.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, April 19th.
Sir Gilbert Clayton, head of the British Mission to Ibn Saud, with whom he is going to discuss outstanding Anglo-Hedjaz and Iraq-Hedjaz questions, has departed from London for Jeddah.

He will meet Bourdillon, councillor of the High Commissioner at Baghdad, and Cornwallis of the Iraq Ministry of Interior at Cairo, and embark in a sloop at Port Sudan.

He reaches Jeddah at the beginning of May. Sir Gilbert told a Reuter representative that he hopes at least to be able to clarify the situation. He would endeavour to establish a modus vivendi. He did not suppose that his work at Jeddah, whether Ibn Saud would travel from Mecca to meet him, would last beyond a fortnight.

Afterwards he might have to visit Baghdad and explain his discussions with Ibn Saud to the Iraq Government. It might also be necessary to visit the frontier district.

DEATH OF LORD DALZIEL.

BENEFACITOR OF TRAVELLERS.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, April 19th.
The death has occurred of Lord Dalziel of Wooler, the pioneer of sleeping-cars and motor-cabs.

Lord Dalziel, who was 74 years of age, was formerly Sir Davidson Dalziel, and sat as M.P. for the British Division of Lambeth from 1910 until he was created a Peer last year. He was closely connected with many important commercial enterprises and was best known to the public as the President of the International Sleeping Car Company.

Largely through his efforts the company has extended its services throughout Europe, one of his many achievements being the Blue Train to the Riviera, which is considered the finest train in the world.

Among other things, Lord Dalziel introduced the motor-cab to London, personally guaranteeing the £250,000 required to finance the first motor-cab company. He died without heir.

AFRICAN FLYING TOUR.

SIR ALAN COBBHAM IN TROUBLE.

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

ROHM, April 19th.
Sir Alan Cobham, who, with Lady Cobham and a crew of four, is making a survey flight of Africa, failed to arrive at Freetown, Sierra Leone, yesterday from Ahijean, on the French Ivory Coast, as expected.

Considerable anxiety was felt during the night and this morning, but this afternoon a message was received from Ahijean that Sir Alan had had to return to Ahijean owing to trouble with his flying boat.

FRENCH ELECTIONS.

SUCCESS OF POINCARE PREDICTED.

LITTLE DIFFERENCE IN CHAMBER.

PARIS, April 19th.
The first ballot in the French Elections will be held on April 22nd and the second and final ballot on April 29th. The main issue is the question of the continuance of the Poincare Government and its financial policy.

The odds are strongly in favour of a comfortable majority for the Poincare policy, which means that the cabinet is composed of the leaders of all the parties of order (as opposed to the parties of revolution) who agree to sink party differences.

This ensures a working majority of the right and centre left parties, which set France's financial house in order.

M. Poincare, as in 1926, remains the only statesman capable of controlling such a mixed detachment of political stars.

An element of uncertainty arises from the fact that the elections are held with a reversion to the old system—"Scrutin De Arrondissement"—with one member per constituency as in Britain, but two ballots.

The Radical-Socialists and Socialists, who are responsible for the abandonment of the hybrid proportional representation of 1919 and 1924, reckon to gain by the change. The general prediction is that the new Chamber will not differ widely from its predecessor.

MANY "FARICAL CANDIDATES."

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

PARIS, April 19th.
The expiration of the time-limit for lodging nominations for candidature at the General Election, which takes place on Sunday, shows that a record number of candidates are seeking seats.

The figure is 3,735, which is nearly a thousand more than in 1924. At least one-third of the candidates have not the slightest chance of election and have been dubbed "farical candidates."

Nine of the thirteen Ministers are candidates, the others, including M. Poincare, being Senators.

INCREASE USE OF COCAINE.

A TERRIBLE SITUATION.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

GENEVA, April 19th.
Remarkable figures showing the increased use of cocaine were given before the Opium Committee to-day, and the establishment of a Central Control Board was urged.

Dealing with opium in China, the report submitted by M. Brenier, the French Assessor, showed that opium production in China increased to 7,000,000 kilos in 1924-25 in spite of the monopoly of production.

Mr. Chao objected to the statement and announced that he would reply later.

The formidable increase in the export of opium from Persia since 1920 was also reported, while it was stated that Germany and France both increased their imports of opium.

Manufacture Of Cocaine.
It was estimated that the world production of morphine for the six years, 1921-1926 was between fifty and sixty tons, Germany and Switzerland being the principal manufacturers.

Signor Cavazzoni pointed out that the production of morphine had increased by at least one hundred per cent. during this period. Half the total, he said, was used in the manufacture of cocaine, which was uncontrolled.

This, he declared, was a terrible situation and raised the question whether the whole action of the League should not be modified.

China Figures Imaginary.

M. Bourgeois agreed with the observations made by Signor Cavazzoni, and stated that the Committee would be asked later to agree to the creation of a Central Control Board.

Later in the day, Mr. Chao replied to the report made by M. Brenier, and declared that the latter's figures purporting to give the production of opium in China were imaginary.

Mr. Chao also denied the assertion that any Chinese law permitted the cultivation of the poppy.

ON TO NEW YORK.

LASHED BY FIERCE WINDS.

"BREMEN" FLYERS ORDEAL

[REUTER'S AMERICAN SERVICE.]

LAKE St. AGNES (Quebec).
We have not reached New York yet, and until we do, our trip is not over," declared Commandant Fitzmaurice, when he landed here to obtain spare parts for the Bremen.

He said it would be two or three days before he could get back to Greenly Island, and would take another few days to repair the plane.

The ice at Greenly Island is ten feet thick. It is not anticipated that they will have any difficulty in taking off with wheels, but, if necessary, they would use skis, and make an intermediate landing at Lake St. Agnes where they would replace their wheels.

Fate Of Earlier Flights.

New York, April 19th.

The terrible buffeting experienced by the German aeroplane Bremen in her flight across the Atlantic has been graphically described to Pressmen who interviewed Colonel Fitzmaurice at Olarka City.

The erratic behaviour of the Atlantic weather as experienced by the Bremen has provided strong theories as to the fate of the earlier Transatlantic aspirants, flying from East to West, in the opinion of Colonel Fitzmaurice.

He thought that Captain Hinckley and the Hon. Miss Elsie MacKay were probably driven towards Labrador in consequence of the vicious winds, which in the case of the Bremen now lashed the machine right and left, then a terrifically strong headwind practically brought the craft to a standstill, while later a strong tail wind would spring up and nullify all efforts to keep the plane to her course.

Fighting In The Dark.

Still greater catastrophe fell upon the occupants when the lights suddenly failed and they had to fight the elements in complete darkness.

Both Colonel Fitzmaurice and Baron Von Huchensfeld unsuccessfully tried to hold a torch to the compass.

Captain Koehl flew at least four hundred miles blindly, zigzagging most of the time in order to maintain an approximate course.

The necessity for this naturally resulted in considerable waste of petrol, and forced them to descend at Greenly Island.

Colonel Fitzmaurice, closing his graphic story, revealed that the flight started with a bad omen. When the machine was taking off at Baldonell, Ireland, the underpart struck a sheep and the Bremen ascended bespattered with blood.

Waiting For Spares?

Professor Smiddy, the Irish Free State Minister to the United States, has received a long-distance telephone message from Colonel Fitzmaurice, from Murray Bay, stating that the Irish officer is awaiting the arrival of spares for the repair of the Bremen. He will take them to Greenly Island and fly from there to New York with his German companions.

A message from Quebec announcing Colonel Fitzmaurice's arrival at St. Agnes, near Murray Bay, from Clarke City, says that he declared his intention of going to New York and sailing from there to Ireland as soon as possible.

DISCREPANCIES IN STATISTICS.

FRENCH REQUIREMENTS.

GENEVA, April 19th.
Examination by the League Opium Committee of the statistics of imports and exports of morphine and salts of morphine revealed considerable discrepancies. This was owing to the uncertainty of the figures supplied. However, it was felt that rigid control was possible when the Opium Convention is in operation.

M. Bourgeois affirmed emphatically that French manufactures of these drugs only covered the country's legitimate requirements.

ARBITRATION AGREEMENT.

NEW TREATY FOR U.S. AND ITALY.

[REUTER'S AMERICAN SERVICE.]

WASHINGTON, April 19th.
Mr. Frank B. Kellogg and Noble G. de Martino, the Italian Ambassador, have agreed to the terms of an Arbitration Treaty, replacing the old Root Treaty.

The new Treaty is similar to the recent Franco-American Treaty and the treaties America is negotiating with eighteen other countries.

LAWN TENNIS.

THE COLONY'S CHAMPIONSHIPS.

SEMI-FINALS NEXT WEEK.

No play was possible on the Hong Kong Cricket Club courts yesterday on account of the weather and ground conditions, and, as it is not expected that any matches will take place today for the same reason, the arrangements for the semi-finals have been disorganised. A tentative revised list of fixtures has been drawn up again and an interesting programme is down for next week. Beginning on Tuesday the semi-finals of the Open Singles and Open Doubles Championships of the Colony will be decided.

In the Open Singles on Tuesday T. Honda and E. C. Fincher will meet in the half final and on the following day Ng Sze Kwong and S. A. Rumjahn will try conclusions in the other half of the same event. They are all old rivals and competition between them promises to be exceedingly keen. The first two aspirants have met once before, Honda winning comfortably, but since then (1925) Fincher has improved considerably and is, in some quarters, expected to beat the Japanese. Ng Sze Kwong and S. A. Rumjahn met in the final last year and gave spectacular performances. After a re-play the latter won. The greatest interest is now centred in their forthcoming meeting next week.

Thursday and Friday next have been set aside for the semi-finals of the Open Doubles. On the first day the Rumjahn cousins will meet the winners of Major W. B. Stavenon and Major R. H. Lucas v. Y. Saito and T. Isomura, while on Friday R. H. Hancock and Dr. R. E. Tottenham will play the winners of Ng Sze Kwong and Ng Sze Cheung v. E. de Souza and A. V. Remedios.

Other Events.

In the meantime, it is expected that the other events in the Hong Kong Cricket Club Tournament will also reach the concluding stages and provided the weather keeps clear, the following dates have been set apart for the finals:—

April 26th: Handicap Singles "B." April 27th: Handicap Singles "A."
April 30th: Mixed Doubles.
Handicap Doubles.
Open Doubles.
May 1st: Club Singles Championship.
May 2nd: Open Singles.

TENNIS LEAGUE.

INCREASED ENTRIES.

That lawn tennis has become even more popular during the last year is suggested by the increased entries for the Tennis League, which closed last Saturday. The increase is shown in the "C" Division which may be reckoned as the first stage for a new entry and in this five new Clubs have joined for the first time, these being the Kowloon Indian Tennis Club, Filipino Club, the Kennedy Road Married Quarters (Military), the European Y.M.C.A., and the R.A.M.C., whilst the Chinese Recreation Club and the Club de Recreo have entered two teams each in this division, which total sixteen entries as against eleven of last year. Civil Service make a re-appearance in the League. The following figures show the corresponding number of entries for the two years:—

Division.	1927.	1928.
"A"	7	7
"B"	12	11
"C"	11	16

There is a falling off in the "B" Division by the falling out of the United Services Recreation Club who have not entered in the League at all. Their place in the "A" Division has been filled by Craigen-gower who have entered in the Senior Division for the first time. It is a matter of regret that the Service men are not in the competition this year, as in 1924 they were the League Champions in the "A" Division. The entries for the current season follow:—

"A" Division.
Mitsui Bussan Kaisha, Craigen-gower C.C., Kowloon C.C., Hong Kong C.C., University, Chinese R.C., and Indian R.C.

"B" Division.
Mitsui Bussan Kaisha, Royal Engineers, Craigen-gower C.C., Kowloon C.C., Hong Kong University, South China A.A., Nippon Club, Chinese R.C., Recreo and Indian R.C.

"C" Division.
Kowloon Indian Tennis Club, H.A.O.C., Kowloon C.C., Hong Kong C.C., South China A.A., Nippon Club, Civil Service C.C., Kennedy Road Married Quarters, Chinese R.C. (2 teams), Filipino Club, Recreo (2 teams), Indian R.C., European Y.M.C.A. and the R.A.M.C.

HOME FOOTBALL.

CUP FINAL AND LEAGUE MATCHES.

TO-MORROW'S PROGRAMME.

To-morrow the chief event in Home football is the English Cup final which will draw thousands of spectators to Wembley. Huddersfield Town and Blackburn Rovers are the rival teams. Huddersfield are favourites on their remarkable League form and it remains to be seen whether Blackburn will succeed in turning the tables on the aspirants for the great championship and the "double".

Huddersfield held the trophy in the 1921-22 season by defeating Preston North End by the only goal in the match and two seasons previously as a Second Division team they reached the final, losing to Aston Villa by the same margin. As a League team they have had some remarkable successes, winning three seasons in succession until beaten to second place by Newcastle last year.

Blackburn Rovers have reached the final for the first time since 1890, but they had a series of successes in previous seasons.

The full programme for to-morrow is as under:—

ENGLISH AMATEUR CUP.

Now that Leyton have won the F.A. Amateur Cup by defeating Cockfield as announced early this week, the following comment from a Home paper in mail week on Leyton's match carrying them to the final may be of interest.

By defeating Cambridge Town at Fulham's ground, Leyton qualified for the final of the F.A. Amateur Cup for the second year in succession, and it remains to be seen whether they can emulate another Essex club, Clapton, who established a record for the South three years ago, by winning the blue ribbon in following seasons.

It is worthy of note that Leyton fielded only one of the forwards against Cambridge Town that were in the final last season, viz., G. Smith. Preston, Groves, Cable, and Goldsmith of the defenders were included. The gate at Fulham, compared with the semi-final at Chelsea last season was disappointing.

The match was played at Fulham before 8,000 spectators. The first half was played in a binding snowstorm, which Cambridge had to face.

They opened promisingly, Bell putting in a fine run on the right wing. Cable, of Leyton, transferred the play by a clever forward pass to Smith, who shot wide. Goldsmith let in Bell, who should have scored for Cambridge, but his shot went high over the bar.

Leyton were having much the better of the exchanges, and forced four successive corners without result. After 25 minutes Smith scored for them with an oblique shot at close range from McKinley's centre. Three minutes before the interval they added to their lead, Avey putting the finishing touch to another of McKinley's goal-involving centres.

On resuming the weather improved. Cambridge, however, were unable to make headway, and after 15 minutes Avey—following up smartly after the goalkeeper had saved from Baxter—scored Leyton's third goal. A quarter of an hour later Smith put the issue beyond doubt, by a capital goal with a first-time shot from Baxter's centre. Five minutes later Bell put the ball well out of the reach. Soon after Duller, of Cambridge, deflected a centre by Lockwood into his own goal. In the last minute of the game, following a scramble in the Leyton goal, Preston inadvertently scored against his own side.

Result: Leyton 5, Cambridge Town 2.

IRISH LEAGUE.

Belfast Celtic, last season's champions in the Irish League, are again strong this season and in mail week were leading Linfield by four points in twenty-five matches. The League position then stood as follows:—

"I HAVE MURDERED MY WIFE."

DRAMATIC OUTBURST AT AN INQUEST.

BOLTON.
"I may as well tell the truth, sir: I murdered my wife."
William Holland, of Haydon Street, Bolton, astonished the Bolton coroner's court with these words during the inquest on his wife, who had been found with her throat cut.

"All the evidence I have given before is untrue," continued Holland vehemently. "She called me a rotten dog. I took a razor and it happened to graze her throat. I rolled her under the table."

Tears.
Holland's son and daughter at this point jumped up in court and protested in tears that their father was insane. Holland, however, would not be interrupted.

"I let my son tell the police all sorts of lies," he said. "You have had no truth before—it was not on oath."

The Coroner: You are upset. I will adjourn the inquest for the funeral to take place.

Holland: I killed her. I have a few more days to live, and I know I am sane. I can tell it all in ten minutes.

The coroner: I would rather you did not in your present condition. The inquest was adjourned, and Holland was taken to the police station for medical observation.

CRICKET TEST MATCHES.

MEN WHO WILL PLAY FOR AUSTRALIA.

The Sheffield Shield matches in Australia give a fair indication of Australia's cricket Test talent to meet England towards the end of the year.

Critics agree that on present form the most likely eleven for the first Test will be:—

Ponsford (Vic.), Woodfull (Vic.), Hendry (Vic.), Kippax (N.S.W.), Oxenham (Q'land), Gregory (N.S.W.),
Richardson (S. Aus.), Oldfield (N.S.W.), Blackie (Vic.), Grimmett (S. Aus.), Beckett (Vic.), or Hornibrook (Q'land).

While it cannot be said that this team is the equal of the one which won four of the five Tests last played in Australia—Collins, Macartney, Macdonald, Kellaway, and Bardsley will be badly missed—it is a sound combination, which, however, is hardly likely to beat England.

This team is strong in batting; that is, as far as Australian form is concerned, which may be somewhat artificial in view of the mediocre bowling talent available. Woodfull, Ponsford, Kippax, Hendry, Oxenham, Richardson, and Gregory are proved run-getters, while Oldfield and Grimmett have already shown themselves to be more than useful with the bat when runs were needed.

Likely Match Winner.

It seems certain that Australia will once more rely upon Gregory for the "fast stuff," but whether he takes wickets or not, he should be worth his place in the side for his batting and slip fielding. As a bowler he only seems to be good for four or five overs, after which he loses his sting.

Grimmett will take Mailey's place, and is likely to have the support of R. Oxenham, the Queensland all-rounder, who, apart from his batting talents, is a more than useful medium-paced bowler; Blackie, the Victorian veteran, is hardly likely to succeed against experienced batsmen of the stamp of Sutcliffe, Hobbs, Ernest Tyldesley, Mead, Holmes, and Hammond, although on his Australian figures he is Australia's most successful bowler.

Australia's most promising bowler is the youth A. Beckett, who, like Rhodes, keeps pegging away at the wickets. He maintains a splendid length with a seductive spin, forcing the batsman to play every ball. His showing against N.S.W. when, in an innings of over 500, he secured six wickets for 100 odd runs, was impressive, and I believe that if there is one bowler in the country who will cause England trouble it is this Victorian colt.

From the selection forecast there are five bowlers, Gregory (fast), Grimmett, Oxenham (medium), A. Beckett, and Blackie (slow). The weak link in the armour is the fielding. There are no outstanding outfielders. Furthermore, it cannot be said that any of the State captains have displayed judgment likely to satisfy the selectors when they come to appoint a Test skipper. Woodfull, who is favourite for the honour, did not cover himself with glory in the inter-State match between New South Wales and Victoria.

£4,000,000 A WEEK ON ADORNMENT.

WHAT ENGLISH WOMEN SPEND.

No less than £4,000,000 worth of trade is done weekly in the adornment of women, declared Mr. Charles Warren at a luncheon in connection with the opening of the Drapery, Textile and Women's Wear Exhibition by Sir Charles Batho, the Lord Mayor of London, at the Agricultural Hall, Leighton, N.

Sir Charles Batho said he supposed that the £4,000,000 a week included powder and lipstick. "A woman," he added, "who uses powder and lipstick after she has been able to purchase such beautiful clothes as she can in these days is not well-informed what she ought to be." (Loud laughter.)

Fashion Onflit.
Almost throughout this trade exhibition is a conflict between the protagonists of the three-piece sports dress—jumper, skirt and coat—and the afternoon gown.

On one side are the British supporters of the "Parisian" modistes who are determined to restore the afternoon gown and, efface, what they call the "finesses" in women's after-luncheon dress which has been manifest since the war.

On the other are those who maintain that the British woman or girl can quite appropriately go on to bridge or a dance without changing from her admittedly attractive costume just used for a motor-car or golf outing.

COLONY'S POLICE COURTS.

CASES TRIED.

STATISTICS FOR PAST TEN YEARS.

The total number of cases tried in the Police Magistrates' Courts during the past ten years is shown in the following table:—

Year.	1918.	1919.	1920.	1921.	1922.	1923.	1924.	1925.	1926.	1927.
Cases tried	10,031	13,908	13,304	17,374	18,291	21,811	27,877	25,989	30,510	32,122

The revenue during the same period was as follows:—1918, $409,603; 1919, $409,351; 1920, $404,132; 1921, $410,195; 1922, $415,923; 1923, $414,930; 1924, $421,372; 1925, $411,227; 1926, $423,529; 1927, $423,311.

The following comparative table shows the number of offences, apprehensions, convictions, and acquittals at the Supreme Court and Magistrate for the last two years:—

Persons apprehended	1926.	1927.
Summary convictions:	33,979	33,740
1. Offences against the person	313	398
2. Gambling	1,504	2,140
3. Offences against property	1,652	1,713
4. Other Offences	23,881	23,409
5. Offences against the Public Order	6,459	6,761
Persons acquitted in the Inferior Courts	3,650	3,600

HONG KONG PRISONS.

The report of the Superintendent of Prisons for the year 1927 shows that the number of prisoners received into prison during 1927 was 7,740 as against 6,511 in 1926.

The following table shows the number of convicts in custody on the 31st December for the past ten years:—

Convicts	224	229	273	331	331	330	345	394	404	392

13,857,160 forms were printed in Victoria (Gaol) in 1927 and issued to various Government Departments and 123,600 books bound or repaired as compared with 13,319,014 forms and 74,030 books in 1926. The introduction of a wire stitching machine resulted in a marked increase in the number of books bound and repaired.

The Gaol was again overcrowded and additional congestion was caused through having to accommodate sick prisoners in the Halls during the rebuilding of the Hospital. It is hoped that the new Hospital will be ready for occupation early in 1928.

The following return shows the expenditure and income for the past ten years and the average cost per prisoner:—

Year.	Expenditure.	Income.	per prisoner.
1918	$103,651	$70,747	$ 63

DEATH OF LAICHKOK CONVICT.

AMENDMENT TO KOWLOON HOSPITAL RULES SUGGESTED.

An inquest was held yesterday at the Central Magistracy by Mr. R. E. Landon, sitting as Coroner with a jury, on the death of a Chinese prisoner serving a sentence in Laichikok Gaol.

Medical evidence showed that the man was suffering from opium poisoning and that special treatment and lighter work had been prescribed for him by Doctor Cannon on March 29th.

The medical officer in charge of the Kowloon Hospital said that he was called to the Laichikok Gaol on Wednesday night where he found the deceased semi-conscious.

Dr. Valentine said that the deceased had long trouble and died a few hours after admission into the Government Civil Hospital.

In returning a verdict of death from natural causes, the jury recommended that the Kowloon Hospital should change its regulations so as to be able to admit prisoners in cases of emergency.

SHANGHAI SIKHS.

TROUBLE POSSIBLE ON SUNDAY.

PEACE EMISSARY FROM HONG KONG.

The rowdy element among the Sikhs in Shanghai are expected to create trouble on Sunday, April 22nd, when the Gurdwara will be re-opened. Several telegrams have been exchanged with Hong Kong and as a result Mr. K. S. Chowdhury, the local Indian Barrister, left here yesterday by the s.s. Preussen at the joint request of his countrymen and of the Police at Shanghai.

Mr. Chowdhury is going to Shanghai as a peace emissary and on his arrival, which will be early on Sunday morning, he will lose no time in delivering a series of addresses to his compatriots urging them to be peaceful and that nothing will be gained by causing disturbances and setting a bad example to the rowdy elements.

It will be remembered that the Gurdwara (temple) for the Sikhs at Shanghai was closed two years ago after the brutal murder of Jemindar Bhodas Singh of the Shanghai Municipal Police. The Gurdwara is situated at Paoshan Road, just on the boundary line of the Chinese City and the International Settlements. When the temple was opened it became a meeting place where the different caste of Sikhs met and occasionally quarrelled among themselves.

Latterly it had also been used as a point from which to spread anti-British propaganda, and the Shanghai Municipal Police on several occasions complained of the nature of the meetings held there. The Police also discovered that members of the Chinese Communist party used to come there and fraternise with a certain section of the Sikhs and supplied them with Red literature.

The situation of the Gurdwara gives easy access to the Chinese, because the building is actually in Chinese territory where the Municipal Police have no jurisdiction. It was partly on this account and on account of the political discussions which took place within its walls, that the Gurdwara was closed by the Municipal Council to whom it belongs.

The Sikhs have often asked for its re-opening, and, according to a Shanghai paper, they held a big demonstration towards this end last week.

The move tried to enter the compound of the British Consulate but the timely arrival of the Police and the Reserve Unit prevented them. After much difficulty they were dispersed, but the latest news from Shanghai shows that they are by no means pacified.

The rowdy element among the Sikhs are determined to create trouble on Sunday, and it is to try and pacify them that Mr. Chowdhury was urgently requested to make the trip.

HIS FIRST TRAM RIDE.

ONE TICKET FOR A WHOLE DAY RIDE.

A Chinese thought that the possession of a tram ticket entitled him to sit in a car the whole day, or at any rate he was caught using the ticket on other than the car on which it was originally issued. The excuse of this 25-year old man for failing to pay his tram fare was that this was his first ride.

At the Central Magistracy yesterday, Major C. Willson disbelieved the man's story and fined him $3, or five days' imprisonment.

BANISHMENT'S DISLIKE OF THE BIRCH.

MAGISTRATE REFUSES HIS OFFER.

Before Major O. Willson at the Central Magistracy yesterday a returned banishment was sentenced to six months' hard labour and twenty strokes of the birch.

The defendant who had been convicted for a breach of the Opium Ordinance was banished for a term of five years. The banishment on hearing the sentence asked for a longer term of imprisonment rather than receive the twenty strokes of the birch.

The Magistrate, however, failed to see his way to amend the sentence.

CHINESE NAVAL CONTRACTORS DECEASED.

A SUM OF $13,570.02.

CANTEN MANAGER SQUANDERS IT IN GAMBLING.

The Chinese canteen manager of H.M.S. Wild Swan appeared before Mr. W. Schofield at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday morning on a charge of embezzling the sum of $13,570.02 which belonged to C. Ah Ying & Co., Naval Contractors. The complainants, the Naval Contractors in question, were represented by Mr. O. A. S. Russ.

The defendant in answer to the charge replied that he did not embezzle the money but had been given some goods by the complainants.

Mr. Russ then told defendant that if he admitted the charge, the complainants would not press for punishment, but the Magistrate said that he wanted to know what the defendant had really done with the goods.

The defendant then admitted to the Court that he had sold the goods and used the money. Asked if he could refund the money the defendant replied that he could not.

Mr. Russ in outlining the case said that the defendant was the canteen manager of the complainants' Company, who in turn were local Naval Contractors. The Company were the canteen tenants on board H.M.S. Wild Swan with the defendant in charge.

The defendant was entrusted with $4,000 worth of goods and had received further stocks in Shanghai and Wei-hai-wei. The assistant manager of the Company went on board the Wild Swan two days ago to check the books, but was told by the defendant that he could check the accounts if he wished, but that he, the defendant, had over-spent $13,570 of the Company's money. The money, continued Mr. Russ, had been lost in gambling.

Asked by the Magistrate where the Wild Swan was at the time of the embezzlement, Mr. Russ replied that he had gone into the question, and that his Worship had jurisdiction as the best way to proceed. The Magistrate replied that he had not been

"THIS SUICIDAL SLIMNESS."

ARE THE EFFECTS BANEFUL?

Certainly from the days of St. Paul, and probably from the beginning of human history, women and their ways have been the subject of admonition and exhortation; and never, it may be asserted, with the slightest effect. Woman continues to go her own mysterious way, with the imperturbable persistence of an elemental law. Her motto is that of Italy, "fara da se," and if the Berlin professor, who has lately been fulminating against the present craze for slenderness, were as wise as he is no doubt learned, he would have saved his breath to cool his porridge. If woman is convinced that what is euphemistically called "a reduction of the natural curves" becomes her, it is useless for all the professors in Berlin to proclaim that she is ruining her con-

WASHING FROCKS.

ART SILK AND VOILE FOR MORNING OR AFTERNOON.

The first summer frocks to appear are generally the fragile garments intended for garden party wear, but after them come the so-called tub frocks which vary between quite complicated creations for afternoon wear, and simple little morning dresses which really can be entrusted to the wash tub.

Considering the enormous strides that artificial silk has made at home, it is not surprising though it may come somewhat as a shock, to find dresses made of it for sale here in the home of silk. A nice thing about them is the cost. Of course, silk frocks from home are expensive, they must be because of the duty, but art silk ones are very reasonable. Pamela has a new collection of summer dresses none of which are $30 and most of them between $18 and $24. The artificial

ROUND THE TOWN.

SEEN IN LOCAL SHOPS.

LANE, CRAWFORD'S have a new make of silk chiffon stockings, the "Gotham" which is guaranteed not to ladder and can be had in all the very latest shades including "Atmosphere," "Alesan," "Rachel," and "Flesh."

Pretty Undies.

In WHITEWAY, LAIDLAW'S I saw some nice "Three Knot" silk tricot underwear which is guaranteed not to ladder and comes in a wide range of delicate pastel shades and white.

Stock Taking Sale.

POHOOMULL'S are holding a remarkable stock-taking sale at which everything is substantially reduced and there are some excellent bargains particularly in embroidered shawls and scarves.

Cushions From Liberty's.

Some very lovely cushions have arrived here from Liberty's, London, covered in the lovely silks for which this house is world famous. WHITEWAY, LAIDLAW'S are stocking them and I was amazed to see that some as cheap as $5.50. I think there were no two alike but it would be hard to say which was the most attractive—it depends, of course, on your room.

Frocks For Morning And Afternoon.

The new shipment of frocks expected at THE SIGN OF THE LANTERN this week did not come in but they should do so early next week.

Belgian Crystal.

The sets of Belgian crystal table glass which have arrived at WHITEWAY'S are in three patterns "Greek Key," "Balmoral," and "Indian Plain," and can be had in the full suite including decanters and ice cream plates.

Indian Silks.

The PIONEER SILK STORE have just got yet more of those wonderful Indian silks woven with a metal thread of which I wrote last week, and tell me that the first shipment has nearly been sold out already.

Handkerchiefs.

LANE, CRAWFORD'S have some most delightful coloured hankies in cotton and linen to use with summer frocks. I particularly liked the linen ones in all shades trimmed with fine veining, but the printed ones are also most attractive and beyond any quick attempt at description. Suffice it to say that whatever your taste in fancy hankies may be you can find it here.

Trinity Sets.

One of the most sensible garments designed lately is the trinity set of camisole, knicker, and petticoat. I found in the PIONEER SILK STORE this week some very nice sets in fine silk tricot lace trimmed for only $8 each.

Hole Proof Stockings.

In the same shop I saw a new lot of "Hole proof" silk stockings which included several new shades.

Cretonnes.

I was told that the huge shipment of cretonnes valued at over £1,000, expected by WHITEWAY, LAIDLAW'S are to be on view next Tuesday on Wednesday. This shop is justly famous locally for their lovely furnishing materials, and I hear that the latest shipment contains some especially attractive patterns. It would be well to go early as cretonnes always sell quickly and you may find that your favourite pattern has been already bought up if you put it off too long.

Silk Rain Coats.

There are some wonderfully cheap silk raincoats in very pretty colours in WHITEWAY, LAIDLAW'S. They run from $8.50 to about $28 and are all guaranteed to keep out heavy rain.

MANILA DRESSES.

REVIVAL OF A POPULAR FASHION.

Towards the end of last summer a number of smart women here were wearing muslin frocks smocked and embroidered in Manila. So popular and charming was this style that I was very glad to see that it is to be fashionable again this year. Lane, Crawford's have quite a big shipment of Manila dresses and the delightful thing about them is that no two are alike. They are in a wide range of pastel shades, some with smocking others without, and the embroidery is different on each one. It would not be possible here to describe them all, but you could hardly fail to find one you liked although it would be harder to decide which you liked the best. They cost about $25 and are made some with and others without sleeves.

stitution, and endangering the vitality of the race. In the course of her career through the ages woman has adopted many vogues. With her inexhaustible capacity of adaptation, she has moulded herself to various ideals. The chameleon cannot change his colouring more easily than she her shape; and through all these vicissitudes she has somehow survived, and has managed to perpetuate the race. She seems, indeed, to have a secret which is above and beyond the shallow scintillations of mere man.

As to the present fashion of slenderness—the emulation of the adolescent figure—it may be surmised that it is achieved as much by contrivance and art in the dress as by diet, and even if it implied all the austerities which the Berlin professor exclaims against, there is no conclusive evidence that the results are baneful. The authorities are just as emphatic on the one side as the other; and certainly common experience lends no colour to the theory that the young women of today are undermining their health. Whatever be the truth, professors may sleep easily in their beds. For (Continued on next column).

silk of which most of them are made is a delightful material which looks rather like a silk rep; in some cases it is as soft and pliable as crepe de chine other makes have more the consistency of a silk poplin, or a mid weight shantung. A smartly-cut model in leaf green is trimmed with the fashionable strappings, another in a bright navy has crossed pin tucks forming an ornamental section in front and fine veining. Several models show the new cretonne effects, small floral patterns in subdued colourings; I liked one which had a pointed tunic and a soft drape on one side of the bodice, which was expressed in mauve and blue.

The vogue will pass as suddenly as it came. The Junoesque type will presently succeed to favour; and then in a night we shall find all our young women looking like Greek goddesses, while all our professors will be denouncing the dangers of over-development. And women will listen, and go their own way.

A LOCAL TRAGEDY.

Quinney was in a pensive mood. "What's wrong?" I asked. "The Lioness is gone." I had visions, with Ullmann's broken window over the way, of an enterprising robber, but surely the great bronze lioness which has been a feature of Komor's shop for so long, could not have been spirited away as his lovely ivory hand rest was some time ago.

chest, two urns, and several other bronze pieces, all sold. "But," he went on, "they haven't left the Colony, they have been bought by a local collector." The bronze lioness had many admirers. It was one of the best known pieces in Quinney's collection, and, to those of us who know and love his shop well, its sale will be as great a loss as it is to the late owner. Quinney has a tender corner in his heart for children and many little people have been allowed a ride on the back of the big bronze beast.

The lioness stands three feet high and is nearly four feet in length. It was modelled by Sinnim, one of the foremost sculptors of Tokyo, who might perhaps be called the Japanese Rodin for his forceful work and keen observation of nature.

SPARING THE ROD— BUT THE CHILD NEED NOT BE SPOILT.

[BY A HARLEY STREET WOMAN DOCTOR.]

The remarks of Solomon about sparing the rod and spoiling the child are ever in the line light. In many nurseries punishment is meted out and considered just and right.

The Inevitable Cry Of Dissent.

Research into the child-mind and its workings to-day, however, taboos this idea. Indeed, the question of punishment exercises the mind of the pedagogist to no small degree, for the answer to the question all are not in agreement.

Let us review the question. The child comes into the world, and his first cry is one of dissent. Unpleasant feelings assail him through difference in temperature. Then he cries in the hope of being fed in and out of routine hours. As growth proceeds, he has to submit to his elders. By reason of his size he feels both weak and inferior where adults are concerned. Nevertheless, his inexorable desire for power by having his own way is frequently seen in disobedience or outburst of temper. He is "up against life."

Alternatives To Despotism Punishment.

Children are egoistic beings. They resent authority; it makes them belligerent. Commands stimulate and irritate them because they accentuate the feeling of authority on the one hand and the feeling of weakness on the other. Therefore a command should be expressed as a request if one is to be successful and prevent any occasion arising that demands punishment.

Yet the majority of parents dispense punishment like despots. If the adult reviewed the situation correctly it would not be necessary. He or she can take right measures. For instance, if a child insists on being naughty, there is nothing better than to get up and leave the room. If he is lonely he will understand that it is his own fault. Every action should be treated with consequences. When he damages or breaks something he must understand that it has to be paid for. His pocket-money must be taxed or suspended to pay for it, or he must forego certain pleasures. The damage must be made good. There is no ground for anger. The child must understand that they are still good friends in spite of his having to pay for the damage he has done.

Treat The Child As An Adult.

Further, if a child gets angry and hits out, it is a good thing to be visibly angry also. Dominance is not necessary, but he must realise that aggressions have their consequences. He becomes responsible for his actions and his egoism is not wounded. Promises of "never to do that again" will be broken at the first opportunity. All troubles between child and adult will be ameliorated if the child is treated as an adult and not as a child. Be his friend and enlist his sympathy. Punishment will soon become extinct by such a method.

WASHING CRETONNES.

HOW TO SOFTEN WATER.

STIFFEN FABRICS AND IRON THEM.

Hard water is one of the real obstacles to washing loose covers. At home this is usually overcome by softening it with washing soda or borax. Washing soda, however, dissolves colour; borax is a mild bleaching agent; and cretonnes are often multi-coloured. Washing soda or borax will either make the colours run or bleach them. The use of bran will obviate all these difficulties.

The Advantages Of Bran.

Bran has no injurious effect on colours. It contains minerals which soften water. Therefore it makes washing easy and saves soap. It is made into a solution.

Use one and a half pounds of bran to three gallons of water. The bran must first be put into a bag about 18 inches square. "Butter muslin is best for this. It is advisable to sew double seam. This avoids any bursting of the seams during boiling."

Put the bran into the bag, which should be half filled. Bran swells when cooked, so allow it plenty of room to expand. Tie round the top of the bag with string. Put it into a copper or large tin bath, and fill with the water, which must be cold. Bran contains starch; starch gelatinises on boiling; so use cold water at first. The minerals which soften the water are then extracted before the starch sets.

Cover the copper and slowly bring the water to the boil. Allow it to boil gently for twenty minutes. Draw off the "bran" water. If more is required, the same bran may be used with a second quantity of water. This second lot of bran water will be weaker than the first. After the second boiling the bran is useless. Empty the bag. Wash out in cold water.

How To Use It With Soap Flakes Or Soap Jelly.

The most successful method is to use the bran water in its full strength. Add either soap flakes or soap jelly to it. This makes a good lather.

Use 1oz. of soap flakes to 2 quarts of ordinary water.

Therefore, four times the amount of soap is used in hard water. Soap flakes cost on an average 10d per lb. Bran costs 1½d per lb. So that both money and labour are saved.

Rinsing The Cretonnes.

After washing, rinse the cretonnes in bran water. Use ordinary warm water for the first rinsings. Use bran for the third and final rinsings.

To Stiffen The Curtains And Covers.

Bran can also be used as a stiffening agent. It contains a proportion of starch. For this light-coloured cretonne starch is not difficult to use, but for heavy materials with dark background it presents a problem. Starch often glazes and causes streaks on dark blue, green, brown, and black. Bran will stiffen material without marking it in any way.

When two lots of bran water are made from the same bran remember the first water contains the most starch. The second water is a much weaker solution. Use the second water for washing. The first water is used for the final rinsing and stiffening. This is sufficient for ordinary cretonnes.

For A Very Stiff Finish.

If a very stiff finish is required mix 1 part of thick starch with five parts of water. This will give added stiffness while evenly distributing the starch. Streaks or glazes are thus avoided.

All dark colours should have a dull surface. Iron these on the wrong side. Dried bent sets starch with a high glaze. When ironed on the wrong side the heat of the iron penetrates the material. The starch sets on the right side without glazing.

Hints On Ironing Cretonnes.

Pure linen, if ironed wet, requires no previous stiffening. Chair and Chesterfield covers, when very much stiffened, are sometimes sticky to iron. Avoid this by allowing them to dry thoroughly. Then damp them. Rub over the surface with a piece of muslin dipped in cold water. This works the starch into the material, and "stickiness" is prevented.

Here is a quicker method of damping a large article. Spread damp cloths over the surface. Fold it up evenly. Put it through the mangle or wringer. Remove the cloths, and iron. This gives an even and moderate distribution of moisture.

In The Case Of Piping Cord.

Always iron inside trimmings first till perfectly dry. Never iron over the piping cord. This will leave a glazed mark on the cover. Iron up to the cord on either side. Dry the cord thoroughly by ironing it separately, laid flat on the table. (Continued on next column.)

BLUE SHOES FOR SPRING.

PINK LIZARDS.

Women will wear blue shoes this spring. The artists who ordain women's fashions have ordered this, and their handiwork—shoes of almost every shade of blue—is now reflected from a thousand shop windows in London.

They are wonderful shoes indeed! In a favourite Bond-street shoe shop, dark blue Court shoes, hand-painted with tiny violets, vie with soft blue shoes of interwoven shades. In other shoe shops blue shoes are to be seen in different types merging from pale hyacinth blue, that promises an interesting finish to a summer frock, to deep navy.

A shoe expert gave a forecast of the appearance of women's feet during the spring and summer months to a Daily Express representative.

"Blue of every conceivable shade will be worn, but the favourites will, I think, be shoes of Lido, azure, and Air Force blue," he said.

Snake Skins.

"Crocodile and snake skins will change their natural colours to comply with fashion's decree, and lizards are appearing in chameleonic colours of blue and pink."

Sportswomen will like the monk shoe, a tongue shoe with a single strap fastening that gives the foot a long appearance.

"The Burma sandal has superseded the old Charleston shoe, and in the summer a wooden sandal enamelled in bright colours with fancy leather strappings will be a favourite."

"The price of skin shoes, which is much lower than it was last year, indicates that they are not quite so fashionable as they were. This is partly due to the fact that the reproductions have grown remarkably like the originals."

"Trimblings are placed across the shoe in the new models instead of running from heel to toe."

When ironing a large cover the last part is apt to become too dry. This gives an uneven stiffness. Keep the unironed part covered or rolled up in a damp cloth. Difficult "pockets" and gathers should be slipped over the corner of the ironing table. They then can be ironed without creases.

MODEL HATS.

SOFT STRAW AND SIMPLE SHAPES.

Pamela has some new hats. Is there any need to say more? Some of them are models from important Paris house, others copies, and all are charming. An Agnes model takes one back nearly thirty years. It is a simple little round about shape with a medium brim in white chip straw. Round the crown is a narrow red ribbon and in front a bunch of field flowers and corn. But simple as it sounds there is a subtlety of line which makes it extraordinarily chic as all Agnes hats are, and suitable to accompany one of the new softly feminine nelson frocks.

Another apparently unsophisticated model which only shows the genius of the milliner when you put it on is a Breton sailor in navy straw with a simple band of navy and scarlet gingham. Coarse mole straw with a narrow brim of silk felt make a most becoming small hat, and cedar straw with a narrow lace eye veil makes a very intriguing model.

A rather larger beige tagal straw has a loose bunch of green feather flowers, while a more formal model is made of pearl beige tagal and trimmed with a half wreath of large pink and green velvet leaves.

ALSATIANS AGAIN.

WOMAN OWNER AND MAID ATTACKED.

LONDON, March 16th. After an interval of several months another attack by an Alsatian wolfhound is reported.

"Mrs. Webb, of Hanger Hill Nurseries, Ealing, who has kept Alsations for a number of years, was out walking on Saturday afternoon with three of her dogs and a maid. She threw a stick for 'Rupert,' one of the Alsations, who promptly retrieved it and started to play. As she bent down to pick up another stick, however, the dog, without any warning, made a savage attack, and bit her on the face and other parts of the body."

One of the other Alsations then made an attack on the maid. Their cries soon brought assistance, and the animals were beaten off with spades. (Continued on next column.)

Baby's Growth

THE best indication of proper development is a right increase in weight coupled with increase in muscular strength.

At five months Baby should be able to hold his head erect. At seven months he will be able to sit up a while. When ten months he crawls, pulls himself up or stands by a chair.

Do not encourage a child to walk before he does so on his own accord.

INCREASE OF THE FRANCHISE.

PROPOSAL TO RAISE AGE DEFEATED.

LIMITING ELECTION EXPENSES.

Recey, April 18th.

The House of Commons to-day began the Committee stage of the Bill giving votes to women at the age of twenty-one on the same terms as men.

A feature of the debate was an attempt made by some Conservative members to make twenty-five the voting age.

Six Alexander Sprot (Conservative) moved an amendment to define the electoral age for both men and women as twenty-five, except in the case of voters already on the register.

Working Class Voter.

He thought it was desirable that when people were to be put upon the roll of voters they should have some experience of life. Moreover, he claimed that there had been no demand for the vote from young women.

Miss Bondfield (Labour), opposing the amendment, ridiculed the idea that young people of the working-class, many of whom between the ages of fourteen and twenty-one had suffered the hardships of unemployment and poverty, had had no experience of life. It was just that section of the community that interested itself in politics.

Putting Back The Clock.

Lord Hugh Cecil, who was among the Conservatives supporting the amendment, said the plain truth ought to be recognised that people over twenty-five were capable of political judgment more mature than people under twenty-five. The present Bill would add five million young voters to the electorate and would thus take away the political power and diminish the authority of those now exercising the vote.

Sir William Joynson Hicks (Home Secretary) characterised the amendment as a proposal to enfranchise two and a half million women at the age of twenty-five and to disfranchise two and a half million men between the ages of twenty-one and twenty-five. He regarded that as putting back the political clock.

The amendment was rejected by 359 votes to 16.

Election Expenses.

Before the House went into Committee on the Franchise Bill, Captain Bourne and Captain Fraser, two Conservative members, respectively proposed and seconded a motion that it should be an instruction to the Committee that they had the power to insert in the Bill provisions dealing with a maximum scale of election expenses.

The amount of money which a candidate for Parliament is allowed to expend on a certain sum per head of the electorate.

Revision Needed.

Supporters of the motion argued that the increase of electorate which would be created by the Bill would automatically increase the amount which candidates were entitled to spend, and that this would benefit wealthy candidates. Labour and Liberal speakers, especially, on this ground urged the need of revision of the basis of election expenditure.

Sir William Joynson Hicks (Home Secretary) said the Government desired this matter to be fully discussed. The instruction was agreed to.

AIR LINE TO THE EAST.

TO OPERATE AS SOON AS POSSIBLE.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, April 18th.
The Air Ministry were asked to speed up their plans for an air service to India in the House of Commons to-day, Commander Kenworthy (Labour) leading the attack.

In reply to questions, Sir Samuel Hoare, the Air Minister, said, he had no knowledge of any specific official proposals by the Netherlands authorities for a Dutch air service to Batavia via British India.

Commander Kenworthy declared that the project was in the course of preparation and said that unless he hurried the Dutch would be flying to the East Indies long before we flew to India.

Sir Samuel Hoare emphasised that he was trying to get a line to India into operation as soon as possible.

AMERICAN STATES REPUDIATE DEBTS.

MANY BRITISH BOND HOLDERS.

NO GOVERNMENT ACTION.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, April 18th.

That pressure should be brought to bear for the repayment of debts owing to Britain by certain States of the United States of America was urged in the House of Commons to-day.

The matter was brought to the attention of the House by Lieut. Col. C. K. Howard Bury, who stressed that these States had defaulted and repudiated public debts. He urged the Foreign Secretary to make representations to the United States Government to point out the hardships to bondholders, most of whom were British subjects.

Mr. L. Locker-Lampson replied that after carefully considering the matter, the British Government had decided that no useful purpose would be served by making representations to the United States Government.

Lieut. Col. Howard Bury pointed out that these loans were used for the development of the particular States concerned, and that about $78,000,000 was now owing. Mr. G. Locker-Lampson replied that he was quite well aware of the facts as outlined by the Hon. Member, but he hoped Col. Howard Bury would not press him at present.

STRONG ANTI-COMMUNIST ACTION.

IMPORTANT MEN INVOLVED.

HELSINGFORS, April 18th.

The Police have arrested a large number of leading Communists in Helsinki and the Provinces, including some members of the Diet. They are charged with complicity in treasonable conspiracy.

The Labour Party has expelled 58 members proved to belong to Communist organisations.

AMERICAN CAPITALIST'S DEBTS.

VOLUNTARY PAYMENT BY WIDOW.

[REUTER'S AMERICAN SERVICE.]

CHICAGO, April 18th.

It is learned that the widow and daughter of Mr. J. Ogden Armour, the famous American capitalist who died some months ago, are voluntarily paying $10,000,000 to settle Mr. Armour's debts, which include $16,000,000 worth of Bonds in the Sutter Basin Company, for which he assumed liability.

The newspapers understand that all negotiable securities in the Armour Estate will be further employed in paying fully the debts to the Armour Company, and also for furnishing capital to reorganise the Sutter Company.

WORLD AIR TOUR.

A SUCCESSFUL TRIAL.

AMSTERDAM, April 18th.

The big three-engined Fokker aeroplane in which the Dutch aviator, Van Lierblack, is preparing to attempt a world tour carried out a most successful test at the Waalhaven Aerodrome yesterday, attaining a speed of 125 miles per hour.

Van Lierblack's daughter and her husband will arrive in London on board the a.s. Mauritania on May 7th, and consequently the departure to South Africa will be delayed until about the middle of May.

After the return from Cairo, the Fokker machines will be overhauled and re-engined before leaving for Tokyo.

PEASANTS REFUSE TO PAY TAXES.

TROUBLE WITH RED ARMY.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

WARSAW, April 18th.

Serious trouble is occurring on the Russo-Polish border, continual affairs having taken place between detachments according to reliable intelligence.

The trouble is chiefly over the Russian border in the villages where the peasants have refused to pay taxes, consisting of grain.

A number of persons have been killed according to reports to hand, while the peasants are hiding their grain, burying it in the ground. The Russian authorities have, it is stated, imprisoned many of the peasants until their families have delivered a certain quantity of grain.

THE COCKTAIL GIRL.

A DOCTOR'S WARNING.

SPOILS A NORMAL APPETITE.

[BY A PHYSICIAN.]

With the decline of the art of conversation artificial aids to sociability have had to be devised. One of them is the cocktail habit, which is becoming as prevalent among women as it is among men.

Girls who half a century ago would neither have desired nor have been allowed anything but the lightest wines with their meals may be seen at "cocktail time" sipping complicated concoctions with remarkable names.

But while the palate toys with these triumphs of the cocktail mixer's skill, the stomach has to take them seriously. And this is where the trouble begins.

"Peculiar Disadvantages."

A cocktail consists essentially of three classes of ingredients—bitter, some form of spirit (usually gin), and a flavour. A bitter promotes appetite and stimulates the stomach to secrete its digestive juices. Wide use is made of this property by doctors in certain digestive disorders.

For normal people such an "aperitif" is not only unnecessary, but is definitely harmful if taken frequently, because of the tendency of the appetite to become dependent on it.

As an alcoholic beverage the cocktail has certain peculiar disadvantages and dangers. Not only is it often a mixed drink, but, being mixed on the spot, the brands and proportions of the alcoholic ingredients of the same cocktail may vary considerably from place to place.

This variability is liable to prove treacherous to those people who are more susceptible to a mixed than to a simple drink.

Cocktails are taken on an empty stomach. The contained alcohol is therefore more rapidly absorbed and its intoxicating effect much greater than in the case with wine and spirits taken during or after meals, for these are diluted by the food already present in the stomach.

Moreover, the irritant action of the alcohol on the bare wall of the stomach, unprotected by food, is liable after a time to cause gastritis.

The value of alcohol as an aid to digestion has been greatly exaggerated. Any effect it has in this direction in a normal person is probably indirect, and is due to its undoubted power of removing cares and worries.

When The World Looks Easy.

Alcohol produces a sense of well-being. It warms the cockles of the heart—and stomach, and loosens the tongue. It makes the world in general, and food in particular, seem more agreeable. These are the chief reasons for taking cocktails.

As an occasional pick-me-up when feeling depressed and off food their consumption may be condoned, but the prevalent habit cannot be too strongly condemned from the medical point of view. If a man of woman wishes to drink, it is best to do so during and not before meals.

BANK NOTES USED AS A CURSE.

EYES OF A DICTATOR'S PORTRAIT PIERCED.

PARIS, March 14th.

The mystery of the large number of new Turkish banknotes with pinholes punched through the eyes of Mustafa Kemal's portrait which have been smuggled out of Turkey has been explained by a traveller from Constantinople.

The Turkish Dictator, in spite of all the reports to the contrary, has many enemies, and when he had a new issue of banknotes bearing his portrait printed in England recently his enemies adopted an old Oriental device of piercing the eyes and muttering a curse that he might become blind.

"Kemal became furious, and issued a decree that any one found with these mutilated notes would be imprisoned. The banks, merchants, and private persons who had such notes became frightened, and after hiding the notes for a time began to smuggle them out of the country to various cities where they could be sold for practically their exchange value.

A number of foreign banks, particularly in Vienna and the Balkans, are now loaded up with these notes, and it is uncertain if the Turkish Government will redeem them.

STERLING STRENGTH.

AMERICAN SHIPMENT TO ENGLAND.

NEW YORK, April 18th.

The continued strength of the sterling exchange is responsible for the resumption of the gold movement to England.

The Farmers Loan Trust Company is sending $8,000,000 though sterling is still below the point at which gold shipments are theoretically profitable.

ALCHEMY OLD AND NEW.

SIR E. RUTHERFORD'S DISCOVERIES.

SOME "MIRACLES" OF TRANSFORMATION.

[BY A PHYSICIAN.]

At the Royal Institution, Sir Ernest Rutherford gave the first of four lectures dealing with the progress so far made in the attempt to transform matter from one state to another.

The lecturer referred to a papyrus dating from the third century, which gave recipes for alloying metals together so as to give the appearance of gold and silver, which, he suggested, were very useful to dealers in imitation jewellery, who probably flourished in those days. But this was not transmutation, which was honestly based on the belief that the whole matter of the universe was made of one primitive type of matter, moulded, as it were, into varied, distinct, and different substances by various combinations of earth, fire, and water. If the amount of these "elements" could be varied, or, perhaps, removed altogether, the old alchemists believed any substance could at will be changed into another.

Those who believe in the possibility of transmutation," said a well-known scientist of those days, "are deluded persons or impostors, for if they could accomplish it they would be terrestrial angels."

Medieval "Stunts."

The successes claimed in those days, said the lecturer, were probably due to the sensational Press of that period, and as it is well known that minute traces of gold exist in many substances, where gold was said to have been produced from base metals the gold was present all the time, and was certainly not a case of transformation.

Within the last few years German and Japanese scientists had claimed to have produced gold from mercury by passing electrical current through mercury vapour, and much had appeared concerning this miracle in the newspapers. But the minute amounts of gold thus "transmuted" were present either in the mercury or the electrodes, for where other experimenters had carried out exactly the same experiment, first of all taking the precaution to remove all foreign substance from the materials used, not a trace of gold was produced.

The Radium Revolution.

Up to the end of the nineteenth century the theory of the permanency and indestructibility of the atom was the foundation of chemical and physical science. Then came the sensational discovery of radium and other radioactive substances, which revolutionised all ideas of the atom and the structure of matter.

Before one's eyes these substances can be seen transforming themselves into other substances by spontaneously ejecting alpha, beta, and gamma particles from their atoms, and effecting changes in their chemical and physical properties which result in the production of quite different substances.

There are now known to be over 30 substances continually transforming themselves by marvellous natural processes which no chemical or physical methods can prevent, hasten, or slow down.

Speeding Up Evolution.

Scientists are trying to do what is being done by radium and the other radioactive substances, and how far they have progressed Sir Ernest Rutherford will explain in his subsequent lectures, for by utilising the particles shot out of radium he has already achieved the transformation of matter in some small measure; but he encourages no hope that at present success on a scale that would make transmutation a proposition is possible.

"It might be possible," Sir E. Rutherford said, "to achieve transformation of matter on a minute scale. But if the thing were achievable at will, the whole of the universe would go through its long cycle of evolution in a few hundred years."

FREE VOTE FIGHT.

30,000 PEASANTS MARCH IN BUCAREST.

BUCAREST, March 18th.

The National Peasant Party held here simultaneously to-day six meetings which were attended by 30,000 people. Resolutions addressed to the Regency were carried demanding the dismissal of the Liberal Government and new elections presided over by an Opposition Cabinet.

At midday the demonstrators formed an imposing procession which passed through the central streets with bands playing national songs and marches. They carried thousands of flags and shields with inscriptions such as "Down with Liberal tyranny," "We want Man's Government," "We want Free Elections," "Man is leader of the Peasant Party."

The police did not interfere and order was maintained. The Opposition leaders stated that the demonstration was the last loyal warning to the Government.

DUCHESS OF THE ATLANTIC.

C.P.R. FLOATING PALACES.

The local branch of the Canadian Pacific line, has forwarded us a very fascinating brochure of the Company's new "Duchess" liners, called after my Ladies of Atholl, Bedford, Richmond and Cornwall.

It might be supposed that as a Duchess is a less important personage than an Empress these liners would be correspondingly second fiddle to the Company's white palaces so well known in Hong Kong. They are, however, huge 20,000 ton vessels, most luxuriously furnished. The Cabin Class arrangements rival the First Class hotel ashore, while the Third Tourist accommodation is all that the average person could possibly wish, and the Third Class quarters are also extremely comfortable.

The vessels are designed to take 600 Cabin class, 500 Third Tourist and 500 Third Class.

A feature that will attract not a few people are the very adequate and safe nurseries.

One of these vessels is named the Duchess of Cornwall—an intelligent anticipation perhaps, when we remember who holds the title of the West Country duchy!

SHIPPING MOVEMENTS.

The R.M.S. Empress of Russia was due to leave Yokohama yesterday at noon, and is expected at Hong Kong on Thursday morning, April 26th. She will sail for Manila on Friday, April 27th at 8 p.m.

The N.D.L. s.s. Alster, from Europe, left Singapore yesterday, and is expected to arrive here on Tuesday morning, April 24th. She will sail for Shanghai and Japan on the following day.

YESTERDAY'S FREIGHT RETURNS.

AVERAGE CARGOES.

NINETEEN ARRIVALS.

With nineteen arrivals and seventeen departures during the 24 hours ended at 9 a.m. yesterday the cargoes discharged for Hong Kong were about average. Through freights showed an increase on the previous day's figures.
Local imports from thirteen vessels amounted to 11,567 tons.
Four British vessels contributed 3,621 tons of this total. The best cargo return was shown by the s.s.
Kaitiaki with 3,440 tons of salt from Port Arthur. A German steamer also carried 1,043 tons of general cargo from Hamburg and Singapore. The best British carrier was the s.s. New Mathilde from Hobart with 1,700 tons of general cargo.

Through freights amounted to 24,225 tons. Three British vessels carried 2,472 tons and the best return was shown by the s.s. Preussen (German) with 7,017 tons. The s.s.
Yoko Maru carried 5,000 tons of sugar from Yokohama and Iloilo.

MARINE COURT.

TWO OBSTRUCTION CHARGES.

CASE AGAINST BOAT-WOMAN DISMISSED.

The master and the mistress of two cargo boats appeared before Commander J. B. Newell, D.S.O., at the Marine Court yesterday for causing obstruction to other vessels in the Harbour by mooring their craft alongside the Mongkok-Shunchunpo Ferry Wharf at Hong Kong.
The master of the cargo boat pleaded that he was not aware of the local regulations, but as he was not working cargo at the time, he was found guilty and a fine of $10 with the alternative of 10 days' hard labour was imposed.

The mistress of the cargo boat entered a plea of guilty but as the Magistrate was not satisfied with the evidence, the case was continued.
L/Sgt. Goldsmith told the court that about 12.30 p.m. on the 18th instant he noticed a number of junks near the Mongkok-Shunchunpo Ferry Wharf at Hong Kong.
He intended to clear them at once but waited for a few minutes to see whether they would clear themselves. Later, one of the Company's ferry launches drew near, and in the attempt to get alongside the wharf the launch was obliged to go full speed astern to avoid colliding with the junk. He then boarded the defendant's craft and arrested the mistress. Cross examined by the Court the defendant stated that she was loading cargo preparatory to leaving the wharf.

The Magistrate was of opinion that the defendant was really loading cargo and dismissed the charge against her.
Asianic deck passengers arriving in the Colony during the 24 hours ended at 9 a.m. yesterday numbered 685.
